RESOLUTION ON THE SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT REPORTS FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH SEPTEMBER 1910.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 23rd February 1911.

RESOLUTION—No. 944L.R.

READ—

The Survey and Settlement Reports for the year ending the 30th September 1910.

THE programme of work was carried out practically in its entirety.

2. The main work of the Survey Department consisted of traverse survey, which covered an area of 3,635 square miles and exceeded the outturn of the previous year by 270 square miles. In the districts of Shahabad and Hazaribagh, where large areas were dealt with, the cost-rates of traverse survey amounted to Rs. 36·4 and Rs. 35·2 respectively, as against Rs. 34·6 and Rs. 33·5 in the previous year. The higher rate in Shahabad is ascribed to more intricate traversing than in the previous year and to difficulties of transport in a large jungle tract in thana Bhabua; while in Hazaribagh the excess is accounted for by the nature of the country which necessitated more stations to the square mile. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is satisfied that the work in each case was done with as much economy as was possible under the circumstances.

The revision survey of Calcutta was in progress and proved a difficult task. An experimental survey made of a small area in the Ganges diara near Dinapore proved instructive, and is being continued in a larger tract this year. The maps, which will show village boundaries according to the Revenue Survey, the Diara Survey and present possession, will prove of great assistance to District officers. The work of the Bengal Drawing Office went on smoothly, and satisfactory progress was made.

3. As in the previous year, the operations of the Settlement Department consisted of—the settlement of raiyati rents and of land revenue in temporarily settled estates; the preparation of a record-of-rights and the settlement of all raiyati rents in permanently settled estates in the Sonthal Parganas; the preparation of a record-of-rights, with the decision of all agrarian disputes, and the settlement of fair rents on the application of landlords or tenants, in permanently settled tracts other than those of the Sonthal Parganas; and the revision of the cadastral survey and record-of-rights in the temporarily settled portion of Orissa, with experimental maintenance of the record in a selected area.

The work lay in seventeen districts, and the area cadastrally surveyed during the year, exclusive of 1,579 square miles of revision survey in Orissa, was 3,474 square miles as against 3,378 square miles in the previous year. Records were finally published in respect of 4,302 square miles, as against 4,234 square miles in 1908-09. Without taking into account the revision work in Orissa, operations over 3,718 square miles were finished during the year. The total area for which a record-of-rights has been completed in Bengal under the supervision of the Director of Land Records, is now 51,392 square miles, and the average annual outturn during the last 24 years has been 2,141 square miles.

4. Particulars of rent and status were recorded during the year for 515,698 tenancies and were revised for 618,668 tenancies. The settlement of rents in the temporarily settled and Government estates in Midnapore, and in the permanently settled estates of the Sonthal Parganas, was practically completed in the previous year. The following table shows the results of this class of work done in certain other areas during the year under report:—

Tract under Settlement.	Proceedings under section 109 C of the Bengal Tenancy Act.			Cases under section 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.
	Number of tenants.	Rent according to landlord.	Rent settled by compromise.	Number of tenants.	Former rental.	New rental.	Enhancement per cent.
		Rs.	Rs.		Rs.	Rs.
Hooghly Zamindari Estates.	443	6,265	7,107	180	966	1,122	16·1
South Monghyr ...	19,437	2,35,083	2,19,424	977	21,630	23,521	8·7
Patna district ...	7,960	1,26,007	1,20,189	605	4,753	5,423	14 0
Shahabad ...	362	7,124	7,091	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil

It is a matter of satisfaction that so much use is being made of the provisions of section 109 C of the Bengal Tenancy Act, which was designed to remedy strained relations between landlords and tenants. In Chota Nagpur, the settlement of fair rents has formed a very small item of work. The total number of tenants for whom rents have been settled in the district of Ranchi is 598, and their rents have been raised from Rs. 1,058 to Rs. 1,316 or by 24 per cent., while in the Dhalbhum Estate in Singhbhum the rents of 225 tenants have been raised from Rs. 929 to Rs. 1,371, or by 47 per cent.

5. The commutation of produce rents under section 40 of the Bengal Tenancy Act is a very important item of work in South Bihar. The following table shows the number of applications received and disposed of up to the 30th September 1910:—

District.	Total number instituted.	Disposed of—			Balance.
		Up to the end of the previous year.	During the year.	Total.
South Bhagalpur	4,281	3,033	1,175	4,208	73
" Monghyr	12,256	2,752	6,808	9,560	2,696
Patna	4,729	258	2,505	2,763	1,966
Shahabad	39	...	...	...	39

South Monghyr stands out most conspicuously in this respect. Of the cases disposed of during the year, commutation was allowed in 6,223, and disallowed in 585, cases. The investigations made were thorough, and the fact that in 62 out of 76 appeals the judgment of the lower court was upheld shows that the work done was generally good. In Shahabad, the tract dealt with was small; and it is reported that, although a considerable area is still under produce rent, no disputes of importance have so far been raised regarding either the system of rent or the share of the landlord. A considerable amount of commutation is also being done in the course of the revision operations in Orissa, where it is subject to certain special circumstances. Up to the close of September 1910, 2,604 applications had been received in the districts of Cuttack and Balasore taken together, but only 479 had been disposed of. A large percentage of these was disallowed, on grounds to which exception cannot be taken; and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council is satisfied that in exercising the discretion allowed by clause (6) of section 40 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, to admit or reject an application, the officers of the Settlement Department are having due regard to the peculiar features of that province.

6. The cadastral survey in Bihar and Chota Nagpur made satisfactory progress, the area surveyed being about the same as in the previous year. An additional area of 132 square miles was taken up, in advance of the provincial programme, in the Rampur Hât subdivision of Birbhum, in consequence of persistent discontent amongst the Sonthal cultivators. The cadastral survey and initial record-writing, though commenced late in the season, were successfully carried out. The survey work of the Settlement Department in all these areas was examined by the Director of Surveys, and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council has received, with satisfaction, his assurance that in accuracy and finish the maps deserve commendation.

7. The survey and the preparation of a record of-rights in the districts of Ranchi and the Sonthal Parganas were completed during the year. The operations in Ranchi were originally started with the object of discovering and removing the causes, economic and agrarian, which had led to the Birsa rising of 1901. Upon the facts collected in the earlier part of these operations, the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act of 1879, was amended in 1903, mainly with the immediate object of removing the special grievances of the Mundari khuntkattidars, and defining and protecting their status. The immediate result of the mitigation of these grievances was the disappearance of the agrarian agitation which had prevailed in the Munda country for many years and had, from time to time. led to outbreaks of violence, of which the last occurred in 1901. With the progress of the settlement operations, the materials were accumulated for a general revision of the local agrarian law, which was effected by the passing of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act of 1908. As a result of the application of this Act to the evidence afforded by the record-of-rights, the burdens of litigation and of general administration have decreased enormously, and there is now abroad a feeling of security in the enjoyment of agrarian rights.

8. The operations in the Sonthal Parganas were begun in the autumn of 1898, and, during the 12 years over which they extended, maps and records have been prepared for over 5,000 square miles. The experience gained has led to the passing of three Regulations to amend the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation III of 1872, and Rent Regulation II of 1886. The rent of every tenant and headman in this large area has been settled, and the respective rights of landlord, headman and raiyat in every village have been clearly defined. Government, as the proprietor of the Damin-i-Koh estate, has gained an increase of revenue amounting to about Rs 90,000 at an expenditure of 2¼ lakhs of rupees; and private proprietors have also obtained material enhancements of their rent-rolls by the assessment of new lands reclaimed since the first settlement. Rent rates are nevertheless still low. The fact that the rents settled have, in all cases, been cheerfully paid shows that the new assessment is moderate. The system of administration in the Sonthal Parganas is peculiarly dependent on the record-of-rights, and in this respect it is now admirably equipped.

9. During the past year the work of revision of the survey and record-of-rights in Orissa was extended to the district of Puri, and the total area now covered by the operations is 5,173 square miles. The progress made is satisfactory, and it is expected that the net cost will not much exceed the estimate of 1908. Disputes between landlords and tenants regarding rents of reclaimed lands were mostly settled amicably at attestation, and the cases of this nature instituted under Section 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act were also usually settled by compromise.

10. The experiment in annual maintenance of the record, undertaken in the Sadar subdivision of the District of Balasore in the previous year, was extended to other parts of the district, and covered an area of 1,600 square miles. The Director of Land Records is of opinion that, if a trustworthy and properly attested record of annual changes is to be prepared, the present staff must be greatly increased, and that the cost will then be prohibitive. No final decision has been reached regarding this important question.

11. The field work of the land records staff in Sambalpur was, on the whole, satisfactory. The mutation offices at Bettiah, Mahnar and Hajipur, established under the Land Records Maintenance Act of 1895, continued to be unprofitable and unsuccessful; and the question of their abolition should now be considered. The maintenance of estate records was fair in Government estates, but was unsatisfactory in Wards' estates. The check of rent-rolls appears to have been adequate in both classes of estates. The inspection and maintenance of boundary marks have improved greatly, and the work done during the year was satisfactory in almost all cases.

12. The charge of the Survey Department was held by Lieutenant-Colonel R. T. Crichton until the 23rd April 1910, when he went on leave for six months, and was succeeded temporarily by Captain R. Foster, Assistant Director of Surveys. The Settlement Department was under the control of Mr. H. McPherson throughout the year, except for three months during the second half when he was on leave, and Mr. J. Reid, I.C.S., Settlement Officer, Chota Nagpur, acted for him. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council desires to acknowledge the services of all these officers and also those of Messrs. H. Ll. L. Allanson, Murphy, Sifton, Hubback and Taylor, who were in charge of settlements. The zeal and high standard of efficiency and co-operation by which the work of the survey officers and settlement officers has been long marked have been well maintained during the year.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies of it, with copies of the two reports, be submitted to the Government of India.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council,

J. G. CUMMING,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

59. (1) When a Registering officer records, under section 71 or section 76, his reasons for refusing to register a document, the record must be made in Book No. 2 with his own hand, and must state the reasons fully and clearly.

(2) If the reasons include the fact that one out of several executants declines to comply with the requirements of the law, his name must be given; and, if the Registering officer is doubtful as to the identity of a party admitting execution, the grounds of his doubt must be stated.

PART XIII.

61. When two or more copies of the same document are admitted to registration at the same time, it shall not be necessary to copy the document more than once in the register-book, but all endorsements shall be written upon each copy and all the copies shall be allotted different serial numbers in the registers.

Copies of maps or plans referred to in section 21 (4).

62. The copies of maps or plans which are required by section 21, sub-section (4), to accompany documents, must be attested by the signatures of the persons executing such documents, or by the signatures of their agents; and the original maps or plans contained in the documents must at the time of registration be signed and sealed by the Registering officer.

Copies of maps or plans contained in a document brought for re-registration.

63. When a document containing a map or plan is presented under section 24, for re-registration, the parties need not deposit fresh copies of the map or plan under section 21, sub-section (4); but the Registering officer shall certify against the copy of the map or plan already contained in the register-book that the map or plan attached to such document is the same as that which was attached to the document on its first presentation.

Translations and copies.

64. (1) The translations and copies of documents required by sections 19 and 62 shall be made upon machine-made medium paper, which may be sold to the public for this purpose by Registering officers at half an anna per sheet.

(2) Such translations and copies shall be kept in a separate file, a reference being made to the said file in the right-hand margin of the page on which the translation is copied in the register-book.

(3) The said file shall be bound from time to time, when it contains a sufficient number of translations and copies to form a volume.

(4) When translations are made, the endorsements referred to in rule 47, rule 50, sub-rule (1), and section 60, and the entry referred to in rule 49, sub-rule (1), shall be copied on the left-hand margin of the page of the register-book into which the translations are copied.

(2) If the error in copying is discovered after the document has been returned after registration, the same procedure may be followed, a note being made, in the margin of the copy in the wrong register, of the volume and page of the appropriate register into which the contents are re-copied.

(3) In both of the cases referred to in sub-rules (1) and (2) fresh entries must be made in the appropriate indexes, without cancelling the original entries made in those indexes.

2. We have dealt with all clauses of the Bill except clauses 73 to 91, relating to the proposed customs duty and excise duty on jute. We have not examined these clauses because we understand that modifications of them are under consideration by the Government.

Clauses 4, 5 and 7.

3. The number of the members of the Board has been raised from 7 to 11, as there was a preponderance of feeling in favour of a larger body than that proposed in the Bill as introduced in Council. Of the four additional members, one will be elected by the Corporation as a whole, and one by the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, and two will be appointed by the Local Government. The proportion of appointed members therefore remains practically the same as that originally proposed.

Clause 9.

4. A provision has been inserted, disqualifying for appointment or election as a Trustee, a Director or salaried officer of any company contracting with the Board.

Clause 11.

5. Provision has been made for increasing the salary of the President, if he undertakes to remain in office for two years after the expiry of his three years' appointment. This will tend to secure continuity of tenure.

6. In sub-clause (3), the designation of the additional allowance has been changed so as to make it clear that in fixing the allowance consideration may be given to the fact that the President will incur expenditure on conveyance charges in the performance of his duties.

Clauses 14 and 15.

7. Provision has been made to allow of the temporary deputation of the President to other duties and of the appointment of a person to act in his place. The purpose is to avoid a legal difficulty which has arisen in the case of the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation.

Clause 15A.

8. Clause 15A has been inserted to make it clear that the Board may grant leave of absence to any Trustee for a period not exceeding six months.

Clause 15B.

9. Clause 15B has been modified so as to distinguish the cases in which it is compulsory and those in which it is optional to notify that the term of office of a Trustee has come to an end owing to various forms of disqualification.

Clause 16A.

10. The term of office of Trustees has been extended to three years; and when any Trustee is appointed to fill a permanent vacancy he will, as the Bill is now amended, hold office for that period, and not merely for the residue of the term of office of his predecessor. These amendments will secure greater continuity of policy.

Clause 17.

11. Owing to the increase in the number of the Trustees, the quorum has been raised from three to half the number of Trustees existing at any time.

Clause 17A.

12. Clause 17A reproduces, with modifications, clause 20 of the Bill as introduced in Council. It gives a general power of adding advisory members, and makes it clear that although such members cannot vote at a meeting of the Board they will have the right to vote in Committees.

Clause 21.

13. The aggregate amount of fees receivable by any person in one month has been left to be determined by rule, and power is given to pay the fee even though a member of the Board or Committee did not attend from the beginning to the end of a meeting. The clause, as amended, also permits of the payment of fees for a meeting at which only adjourned business is transacted.

Clause 21A.

14. Sub-clause (2) has been inserted so as to define the part which a Trustee may take in the proceedings of the Board in regard to any area in which he owns land or buildings.

Clause 23.

15. The power of the President to make contracts without reference to the Board has been reduced from contracts of ten thousand rupees to contracts of one thousand rupees.

Clause 24A.

16. Clause 24A has been inserted so as to make it compulsory to call for tenders in the case of contracts exceeding one thousand rupees in value.

Clause 27.

17. Clause 27 has been modified by removing from it all reference to the officers and servants of the Land Acquisition Tribunal. Under clause 64, as amended, the President of the Tribunal will be the sole authority in relation to the officers and servants thereof.

Clause 28.

18. Reference to the Tribunal has similarly been omitted from this clause.

Clause 30.

19. A proviso has been inserted giving a right of appeal to the Board when an officer drawing a monthly salary exceeding one hundred rupees is dismissed by the President.

Clause 31.

20. This clause has been modified so as to dispense with the previous sanction of the Local Government to orders granting leave to, or suspending, any officer.

Clause 33.

21. This clause has been modified in consequence of alterations made in the Schedule to the Bill.

Clause 35.

22. The wording of this clause has been modified so as to bring the procedure more definitely into accord with that prescribed in the corresponding sections of the English Acts.

Clause 36.

23. The number of residents who may present a complaint to the Corporation has been raised from 12 to 25.

24. Sub-clause (2) has been added, to require the Corporation to forward to the Board any complaint which they may reject. This provision is particularly intended to meet the case of complaints by the Health Officer of the Corporation. It is undesirable that, as was contemplated in the Bill as introduced in Council, the Health Officer should appeal from the Corporation to the Board.

Clause 37.

25. Clause 37 has been modified so as to impose more clearly on the Board the duty of informing the Corporation of the manner in which an official representation is dealt with.

Clause 38.

26. The wording of this clause has been somewhat amplified on the lines of the corresponding section of the City of Bombay Improvement Act, 1898.

Clause 40.

27. The wording of sub-clause (c) has been modified so as to make it clear that the Board have no power to order the demolition of buildings other than those which they have acquired.

Clause 41.

28. Sub-clause (a1).—This sub-clause introduces the distinction which is found in the City of Bombay Improvement Act between land required for the execution of a scheme and land which will be affected by the execution of the scheme.

29. Sub-clause (b), providing for the making of surveys, has been omitted, as surveys will usually be made before any scheme is framed, and are provided for in clause 167A.

Clause 42.

30. It has been made clear that objections to any scheme which has been notified will be received from any member of the public. Provision has also been made for the case of schemes lying within the area of a mufassil municipality.

Clause 44.

31. Provision has been made for service of notice, though not necessarily by name, on the occupier of any premises which it is proposed to acquire as well as on the owner of the premises.

Clause 46.

32. Sub-clause (f).—This sub-clause has been revised because, in the opinion of the Committee, it will be more convenient to prepare re-housing schemes separately from improvement schemes.

Clause 48.

33. Clause 48, as now revised, provides for notification by the Local Government of the fact that an improvement scheme has been duly sanctioned.

34. The rest of clause 48 of the Bill as introduced in Council has been omitted, it being proposed that the declaration as to land being needed for the Board should be issued in the usual way under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act.

Clause 50A.

35. Clause 50A has been revised so as to enable the Board to arrange for the erection of dwellings for the re-housing of persons likely to be displaced by the execution of improvement schemes, as a matter entirely separate from the execution of such schemes. In the opinion of the Committee, such work may often be most usefully proceeded with while the details of the improvement scheme are under discussion.

36. Sub-clause (4) of this clause empowers the Board to control not only the construction but also the maintenance and management of such dwellings by private individuals.

Clause 51.

37. Clause 51 has been modified, as, in the opinion of the Committee, it is inadvisable to attempt to lay down the proper width of main thoroughfares. As it now stands, the clause merely provides that streets intended for carriage traffic shall be at least 40 feet wide, and that streets intended for foot traffic only shall be at least 20 feet wide, and, in this respect, it follows the corresponding section of the City of Bombay Improvement Act.

Clause 52.

38. Clause 52 of the Bill as introduced in Council has been omitted. This clause proposed certain restrictions on the formation of open spaces. In the opinion of the Committee, it is best to give the Board a free hand in the formation of open spaces in connection with improvement schemes, and all that it is necessary to enact is the provision contained in clause 41, sub-clause (c).

Clause 53.

39. Clause 53 has been slightly modified to provide for the case of this portion of the Act being extended to a Suburban Municipality.

40. A sub-clause has also been inserted, empowering the Local Government to decide disputes between the Trust and any Municipality.

Clause 54.

41. In clause 54 an additional provision has been inserted for the payment of money compensation if the provision of alternative means of access does not sufficiently compensate the persons affected.

Clause 56.

42. Clause 56 of the Bill as introduced in Council has been replaced by clauses 56A to 56H of the Bill as now amended. The Committee find on examination that great inconvenience would arise if the rights and powers of municipal authorities under Chapter XXIII of the Calcutta Municipal Act were exercised by the Board. The general effect of the amendments is to leave to the existing municipal authorities their existing powers, but to provide that, when the Board allow any street vested in them to be used by the public, they shall have the same rights and duties as a municipal authority would have in regard to the street.

Clause 56H.

43. Clause 56H empowers the Board to align streets outside the Calcutta Municipality. This will enable the Board to keep clear of buildings the lines of road which it is proposed should hereafter be main arteries of communication, but which the Board may not for the time being be prepared to develop.

Clause 57.

44. Clause 57 has been slightly modified, and imposes on the Corporation, instead of the General Committee, the duty of declaring a street constructed by the Board to be a public street.

Clause 57A.

45. Clause 57A has been inserted to meet the case of streets constructed by the Board being taken over by a Suburban Municipality.

Clause 61A.

46. Clause 61A replaces clause 59 of the Bill as introduced in Council. It has been widened so as to allow of land being acquired for any of the purposes of the Act: it may be necessary to acquire land for offices, godowns, etc.

Clause 61C.

47. This clause has been separated from clause 62 (1), and the wording closely follows the wording of the corresponding section of the City of Bombay Improvement Act. That section has been judicially interpreted, and it is desirable to avoid differences in the wording of the two Acts, since they might raise doubts as to the exact position of the Tribunal to be established under the present Bill.

48. Sub-clause (c) has been modelled on section 14 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, and makes it clear that the Tribunal will have power to enforce the attendance of witnesses.

Clause 62.

49. In sub-clause (a) the words "of the first grade" have been omitted. Any Subordinate Judge of three years' standing will therefore be eligible to serve as President of the Tribunal. Subordinate Judges of the 1st grade of three years' standing are few in number and are on the eve of retirement.

Clause 67.

50. The earlier sub-clauses have been recast, and now define more clearly the matters which the President of the Tribunal is empowered to decide alone.

51. Sub-clauses (4), (5) and (6) have been omitted, because in the case Hari Pandurang v. the Secretary of State (I. L. R., 27 Bom., 424) it was held by the High Court of Bombay that a Provincial Legislature could not confer a right of appeal to the High Court. The Committee understand that the Government of India will be asked to undertake the legislation necessary to confer such a right of appeal as may be considered advisable.

52. By sub-clause (7) it is provided that all orders for the recovery of money shall be enforced through the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta.

Clause 67A.

53. Clause 67A reproduces, in a modified form, clause 93 of the Bill as introduced in Council. Although the object sought to be attained by this clause is apparently simple, it appeared to the Committee, on discussion, that many practical difficulties would arise in actual working, and an attempt has been made to meet such difficulties.

Clause 68.

54. Sub-clause (2) has been inserted to give the former owners of land acquired by the Board a right of pre-emption when the Board come to dispose of such land.

Clause 71.

55. Clause 71 has been modified so as to impose the extra duty, in the case of usufructuary mortgages, on the amount secured by the mortgage, and not on the value of the property mortgaged.

56. Sub clauses (1a) and (1b) have been inserted in order to penalise attempted frauds.

Clause 72.

57. The Committee would impose the terminal tax on passengers arriving at or leaving any station in the Calcutta Municipality or the Howrah Municipality, and not merely on passengers arriving at or leaving the terminal stations of Howrah and Sealdah. Many passengers for Calcutta alight at such stations as Kalighat, Ballygunge and Majerhat, and there is no reason why they should escape the tax.

58. On the other hand, as regards passengers by river, the limits laid down in the Bill as introduced in Council have been narrowed. The Port of Calcutta extends down to Budge-Budge, and it is not reasonable that passengers landing at Budge-Budge should be taxed for the benefit of Calcutta. The Committee therefore propose that the tax should only be imposed on persons arriving at or leaving any landing place in the port within five miles from Government House.

59. In proviso (a), the limit of exemption has been reduced from a radius of thirty miles to a radius of ten miles, on the ground that people residing between ten and thirty miles from Calcutta are those who probably visit Calcutta most frequently, and should therefore be made to contribute towards the cost of the amenities which they enjoy.

60. In sub-clause (2) provision has been made for payment of the cost of collection to the administration which collects the tax.

61. In sub-clause (3) provision has been made for the submission of quarterly, instead of annual, returns by the owners of steam-vessels.

Clause 92.

62. The Committee recommend that the rateable valuation of the property of the Port Commissioners should be taken to mean the valuation on which the municipal taxes are actually paid, which is nine-tenths of the full valuation. The ten per cent. reduction from the normal valuation, which the Port Commissioners receive, does not, in the opinion of the Committee, represent collection charges, but is allowed in consideration of the fact that the Port Commissioners do not manage their property on a purely commercial basis. It is not open to the Corporation to make another arrangement and collect the municipal taxes on the full valuation. In this respect the Committee follow the precedent afforded by section 72 (2) of the City of Bombay Improvement Act, 1898.

Clause 96.

63. This clause has been substituted for clauses 96 and 97 of the Bill as introduced in Council. It expresses more clearly the power of control by the Government of India over the method of raising loans, which was to some extent left to implication; and it makes it clear that money may be borrowed to pay off an existing loan.

Clause 100.

64. It is considered unnecessary to prescribe any standard form of debenture in the Bill, seeing that the fullest power is given to depart from the form. The Board may be left to adopt their own forms, with the sanction of the Government of India, as occasion arises.

65. Words have been inserted to require the signature of the President and one trustee to each debenture.

Clause 104.

66. The second paragraph of this clause as introduced in Council has been omitted as being superfluous.

Clauses 105 and 105A.

67. Clause 105 of the Bill as introduced in Council has been recast, and appears as clauses 105 and 105A in the Bill as now amended. The former of these specifies the manner in which loans may be repaid, and the latter renders obligatory the establishment and maintenance of a sinking fund where this method is prescribed for the repayment of the debt.

Clause 106.

68. As recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, Calcutta Port Trust Debentures have been added to the securities in which sinking fund moneys may be invested.

69. Sub-clause (3) has been omitted, as on examination it appears to be superfluous.

Clause 119(2).

70. The proposed closing balance has been raised from fifty thousand rupees to one lakh. This is considered to be a safer limit, in view of the large financial operations of the Board.

Clause 122.

71. Clause 122 has been simplified, and, as it now stands, gives the Board power to deposit their surplus moneys either with the Bank of Bengal or with any other bank in Calcutta.

Clause 122B.

72. Clause 122B reproduces parts of clauses 121 and 122 of the Bill as introduced in Council, and provides for the signature of cheques by the President and the Secretary to the Board, instead of by the Secretary and a Trustee authorised by the Board in that behalf. Provision is also made for the signing of cheques in the temporary absence of the President or the Secretary.

Clause 122C.

73. Clause 122C is new, and is taken from section 116 of the Calcutta Municipal Act. The clause renders it incumbent on persons signing cheques to satisfy themselves of the propriety of the payment.

Clause 122.

74. Sub-clause (f) has been inserted. It provides for the inclusion of office expenses under the head "cost of management."

Clauses 125 (g) and 127 (e1).

75. It is an arguable point whether premia on leases should be credited to capital or to revenue account. The Committee have adopted as a solution the proposal that premia received in connection with leases for any term exceeding forty years should be credited to capital account, while those in connection with shorter leases, which resemble advance payment of rent, should be credited to revenue account.

Clause 128A.

76. Clause 128A has been inserted to give the Local Government power to withdraw money from the fund created by the investment of surplus revenue funds, if that fund becomes greater than is necessary for the proper service of loans.

Clauses 131 and 131A.

77. Clause 131 of the Bill as introduced in Council has been sub-divided into clauses 131 and 131A, which respectively provide for the half-yearly submission of an abstract account to the Local Government and for an annual audit.

Clause 134.

78. Clause 134 has been amplified on the lines of the corresponding section in the Calcutta Municipal Act, and lays down the duties of the auditor more fully than did the clause as introduced in Council.

Clauses 134A and 134B.

79. Clauses 134A and 134B have similarly been taken from the Calcutta Municipal Act, and prescribe the manner in which the audit report is to be dealt with.

Clause 137.

80. Sub-clause (f) has been omitted, as penal rules for regulating the conduct of members of the Board, or of their Committees, are out of place, and any violation of confidence on the part of officers of the Board can be dealt with departmentally.

Clause 144.

81. The wording of this clause, as introduced in Council, is found to be too wide. Under the clause as now modified, only the members, officers and servants of the Board will be deemed to be public servants.

Clause 146(2).

82. A non-resident rate-payer has been given the power to submit objections.

Clause 147.

83. Clauses 147 and 148 of the Bill as introduced in Council have been amalgamated in the present clause 147, which gives the Board power not only to subsidise, but also to construct and work, tramways and other means of locomotion. Such a power might conceivably be useful, though it is not probable that it will be exercised.

Clause 155.

84. Clause 155 has been modified on the lines of the corresponding section of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and the last four sub-clauses of the clause, as introduced in Council, have been omitted.

Clause 156.

85. Sub clause (b) has been omitted, as the Board will have no power to demolish buildings other than those actually vested in them.

Clause 159.

86. The wording of sub-clause (d) has been modified because it scarcely seemed to attain the object with which it was framed, viz., that the validity of proceedings should not be called in question on account of small technical defects which had caused no injustice.

Clause 160.

87. The Board, and not the President with the approval of the Board, are authorized to pay compensation to persons who have suffered damage.

Clause 164.

88. It appeared to the Committee that clause 164 of the Bill as introduced in Council was too wide. Debentures require the actual signature of Trustees, and there are numerous other documents, such as cheques, which are in the same position. The clause, as now amended, authorizes the signature in facsimile of notices and bills only.

Clause 165.

89. Clause 165 (relating to the service of notices, etc.) has been omitted, as being superfluous.

Clause 166.

90. Sub-clause (d) has been modified, and now provides for the affixing on the land of a copy of the document to be served, instead of a paper setting forth the substance of the document.

Clause 167.

91. Clause 167 (service of summonses) has been omitted, as being superfluous.

Clause 167A.

92. Clause 167A has been inserted in order to give the Board fuller power to make surveys.

Clause 168.

93. Clause 168 has been modified so as to give the President the powers which a Collector possesses under section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act when conducting preliminary investigations.

94. Sub clause (2) has been inserted to require the payment of compensation for any damage done when the President enters on land.

Clauses 169 to 189.

95. Clauses 169 to 189 of the Bill as introduced in Council have been omitted. They invested the President with certain powers vested in the Municipal authorities under the Calcutta Municipal Act, and regulated proceedings before Courts of Small Causes. As clause 56 of that Bill has been modified, and as the Board will not, under the Bill as now amended, exercise powers under Chapter XXIII of the Calcutta Municipal Act, these clauses are found to be unnecessary.

Clauses 190A, 190B and 190C.

96. These are penal clauses, referring to the new clauses 56 (D), 56 (E) and 56 (H).

Clause 194.

97. The words "purposes of this Act," in sub-clause (2), have been inserted in place of the words "payment of loans raised or to be raised under this Act", as the wider wording appears safer.

Clause 195.

98. Sub-clause (bb) has been inserted so that there may be no doubt as to the power of the Corporation to complete any scheme which may be unfinished when they assume the assets and liabilities of the Board.

The Schedule.

99. Schedule A to the Bill as introduced in Council has been somewhat shortened in consequence of the decision referred to in paragraph 34, ante, that land acquisition proceedings should be conducted by the officers of Government in the usual manner. On this view it is no longer necessary to throw the Land Acquisition Act into a new form suited only for the acquisition of land for the purposes of the Board. The Committee have merely retained such of the proposed additions to the Act as appear to them to be necessary.

Clause 10B.

100. A provision is introduced into section 11 of the Land Acquisition Act, authorising the award of costs legitimately incurred by parties in putting their cases before the Collector. Such costs are usually held to be covered by the 15 per cent. additional compensation, which, under the present Bill [clause 14 (2a) of the Schedule], is in most cases withheld.

Clause 12(2).

101. In the proposed sub-section (4) to section 17 of the Land Acquisition Act, the power to grant a certificate has been confined to a salaried Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate with first class powers.

Clause 14.

102. Clause 14 (2) of Schedule A to the Bill as introduced in Council, which proposed to insert a paragraph ("seventhly") in section 23(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, has been omitted, as being likely to work inequitably.

103. Clause 14 (2a) of the Schedule to the Bill.—Sub-section (2) of section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act has not been repealed, but merely modified; the result is that the 15 per cent. additional compensation will be paid except when the land acquired is situated in the Calcutta Municipality and within the area of an improvement scheme.

104. Clause 14 (3) of the Schedule to the Bill.—In the proposed section 23(3) a clause has been inserted on the lines of proviso (i) to section 557 of the Calcutta Municipal Act.

105. In the proposed section 23 (3) (b) the period has been reduced from three years to two years.

106. The proposed section 23 (3) (e) has been omitted, as it appeared to be superfluous in view of the provisions of the proposed section 24 A in clause 16 of the Schedule to the Bill.

107. Clause 14 (4) of Schedule A to the Bill as introduced in Council, which proposed to insert a sub-section (4) in section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, has been omitted, as a person whose business is stopped may have an equitable claim to compensation, even though the business be an offensive one carried on under license.

The Schedule—concld.

Clause 16B.

108. It is proposed to add two new sections, 48A and 48B, to the Land Acquisition Act, dealing with the award of compensation where loss is occasioned by land acquisition proceedings being unduly protracted.

Clause 16C.

109. In section 49 of the Land Acquisition Act a sub-section has been inserted, which renders the section applicable to the case of a private garden attached to a dwelling-house being under acquisition.

NOTES OF DISSENT.

Clause 72 of the Bill.

WE, the undersigned, dissent from the modification of proviso (a) to clause 72 of the Bill, whereby the limit of exemption from payment of the terminal tax has been reduced from 30 miles to 10 miles. The tax is one which will fall mainly on the poorer classes, and it is desirable that the individual incidence should be very light; but, if it is imposed on the suburban traveller, the aggregate payments by many individuals will be considerable, while the incidence will be at the same time capricious. The radius of 30 miles was selected because the traffic from outside such a radius was calculated to yield a revenue of two lakhs a year: it is not, in our opinion, necessary at this stage to increase the revenue derived from this source.

Clause 14 (2a) of the Schedule to the Bill.

I dissent from the proposal, with reference to sub-section (2) of section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, to confine an enhancement of 15 per cent. on market value to property located outside the Calcutta Municipality only. I am of opinion that this section should stand as in the old Act, and that 15 per cent. should be paid to owners wherever the property is situated, save and excepting where the property acquired is so acquired to improve an insanitary area.

2. Compulsory acquisition for improvement schemes, irrespective of persons or condition of property, is a necessity. But where a man is honest in his unwillingness to part with his property, either because of its bearing family associations or because he believes it will, apart from any Trust operations, eventually increase in value, it is only fair that such a man should receive some solatium for such compulsory acquisition by the Trust. Throughout India—with the exception of the Bombay Trust—this principle has been recognised by law, and such solatium has found expression in an addition of 15 per cent. over and above the so-called market value. Such being the custom in India, I think this rule should continue to apply in Calcutta to any property acquired by the Trust, subject to the aforesaid proviso.

3. I am further constrained to make this note of dissent, because in my opinion an enhancement of 15 per cent. upon such an unknown quantity as the "market value" of property is a paper and not an actual enhancement, for in practice an assessor cannot avoid taking into consideration the fact that there will be such an increase made upon his award of "market value," and in dealing with the evidence of experts, who in their opinions of the "market value" of property in Calcutta will vary to a greater extent than 15 per cent., he cannot help being guided in his final award as to the actual market value by the fact that it carries this increment. I submit it will be impossible to prove or claim in the course of years that the retention of this 15 per cent. has cost the Trust more than its omission would have done, and, as a matter of fairness, combined with expediency, I desire to record that in my opinion the section should stand as it does in the Land Acquisition Act of 1894, subject to the aforesaid proviso.

J. C. SHORROCK.

The 25th February, 1911.

THE Report is signed by me subject to my dissent in respect of the provisions of the following clauses.

Clause 61A of the Bill.

2. I regret I cannot accept clause 61A as it stands, without some reservation, as it would be giving a carte blanche to the Board to acquire land to an unlimited extent. As a rule the quantity of land to be acquired must not be too disproportionate to the purpose for which it is intended. Even making due allowance for recoupment, there must be some limitation to the power granted by this clause to the Board, in order to check any tendency that it may develop towards land speculation, or to interfere with the just rights of the people by taking much more land than what would be required for the recoupment of the cost of the main scheme. With this end in view, I moved certain amendments, which were not accepted. This principle of restriction has been recognised so late as 1909 by the enactment of section 5 of the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act.[1] If that restriction has been considered necessary and expedient for an advanced country like England, with its democratic instinct, it is much more necessary in a country like India where the people are so very backward. It may be urged that the aforesaid Act applies to muffassil towns and not to big cities, but the principle acted upon is just the same. It is well known that the people of this country are very much attached to their homes. It would therefore create great dissatisfaction if their feelings in this direction were not properly respected by the Legislature and their properties not duly protected from an arbitrary operation of the Land Acquisition Act. Many cases may be cited to illustrate that such abuse of power has, as a matter of fact, taken place under the Calcutta Municipal Act, a few of which I mention below:—

For a Dhobikhana at Ballygunge—

Acquired 47 bighas of land, required 11 bighas—surplus 36 bighas.

For the Canal Area Drainage Scheme—

Premises Nos. 27 and 27-1, Haldar Bagan Lane—Acquired 6 kottahs 8 chattaks 35 sq. ft., with a masonry building and huts standing thereon; required only 5 chattaks 15 sq. ft.—surplus 6 kottahs 3 chattaks 20 sq. ft.

Premises Nos. 8 and part of 8-1, Ultadinga Road—Acquired 9 kottahs 10 chattaks 25 sq. ft., required 13 chattaks 10 sq. ft.—surplus 8 kottahs 13 chittaks 15 sq. ft.

For Roads—

Premises No. 89, Gorpar Road—Acquired 2 bighas 19 kottahs 5 chattaks 32 sq. ft., required 9 kottahs 4 chattaks 25 sq. ft—surplus 2 bighas 10 kottahs 1 chattak 7 sq. ft.

Premises No. 10-1, Pitambar Bhattacharjee's Lane—Acquired 8 kottahs 2 chattaks 20 sq. ft. with structures thereon, required only 38 sq. ft.—surplus 8 kottahs 1 chattak 22 sq. ft.

Clause 67 of the Bill.

3. This Bill in its general features is nothing more than the Land Acquisition Act as applied to a particular locality, though that locality may have all the importance attached to it as the capital of the Imperial and Provincial Governments. Hence the main principle of the Bill ought not to be different from that of the Land Acquisition Act, which has not been found fault with, though it has been in force for so many years. The Land Acquisition Act recognises in full, in section 54, the right of the parties to appeal to the High Court, subject, of course, to the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure. No satisfactory reason has been assigned why this section of the Land Acquisition Act should be omitted from the body of the Bill. It has been stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons that section 54 has been omitted, as clause 67 of the Bill provides for appeals. But sub-sections (4), (5) and (6) of clause 67 have now been omitted; so the result is, there is no section in the Bill which provides for appeals. In the first place, the omission in the Bill with regard to appeals is obviously an anomaly: one rule for the muffassil and another for Calcutta cannot at all be justified when the object is the same in both the Acts, namely, compulsory acquisition of land, and especially when the value of properties in Calcutta is much greater than that of similar properties elsewhere. In the second place, perhaps considerations of delay and trouble resulting from appeals might have something to do with the omission of section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act; but such considerations ought not to influence a legislative body to interfere with the obvious rights of the parties. Section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act should therefore stand.

[1] 9 Edw. VII, c. 47.

Clauses 67 and 56J of the Bill.

4. If for any reason section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act cannot be restored, a new section providing for appeals should be inserted in the Bill. Restriction upon appeals may be made only in regard to the money-value of the property, say, to the extent of Rs. 5,000. But where a money-value is not at all possible, as, for instance, in cases coming under sub-clause (b) of clause 56J, then also an appeal should lie to the High Court. Appeals should also be allowed on the grounds mentioned in sections 100 and 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. Hence the words "and the determination of the Tribunal shall be final," at the end of sub-clause (1) of clause 56J, should be omitted. In other words, provision should be made for appeals in the following cases:—

(1) when the money-value of the property exceeds Rs. 5,000,
(2) where the right does not admit of any money-value,
(3) cases under sections 100 and 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

If the Provincial Government have got no power to make such provisions in respect of appeals in the Bill, they may move the Imperial Government to grant sanction for making such provisions.

Clause 67A of the Bill.

5. Clause 67A I regret also. I cannot accept sub-clause (1) of clause 67A as it at present stands. On principle I moved an amendment by proposing to substitute the words "one-half of the increase in value" for the words "a sum to be fixed by the Board in that behalf", which was, however, lost. My reason for moving the amendment was obvious. There are two contracting parties—the Board and the landowner, the former having all the advantages conferred upon them by law; but as there is every likelihood of their abusing their power by fixing a sum which may be considered very arbitrary by the other party, it is absolutely necessary that a restrictive clause should be introduced. In moving the above amendment, I did not give expression to any new idea of mine, but I followed the principle of English law with a view to restrict the arbitrary power of the Board regarding the fixing of an increase between the estimated cost of acquisition and the probable sale-value, by limiting the sum to one-half of the increase in value. This is laid down in sub-section (3) of section 58 of the Housing, Town-planning, etc., Act, 1909,[1] by which one half of the amount of such increase is to be recovered by the responsible authority. It is based upon justice and equity. The original owner stands on quite a different footing from that of a third party who has no interest in the property, and the associations of the original owner with his home are of such a character that he is entitled to very liberal treatment. The Calcutta Corporation accept two-thirds of the increase, which in my opinion is a little too high. Hence half the amount of the increase would, I think, be a proper sum to fix.

Clause 14 (2a) of the Schedule to the Bill.

6. It has been urged that as the Calcutta Improvement Bill has been based on the lines of the City of Bombay Improvement Act, section 23 (2) of the Land

[1] 9 Edw. VII, c. 44.

Acquisition Act should be omitted. His Excellency the Governor of Bombay, while moving the first reading of the Bill, referred to this point as follows:—

"The 15 per cent. at present allowed for compulsory acquisition under section 23, sub-section (2), of the Land Acquisition Act, will, however, no longer be granted, because it puts a premium on a refusal to come to terms."

7. But this reason does not appear to be satisfactory. Very probably the people of Bombay did not raise any objection, as they thought any sacrifice would not be too great for the purpose of escaping from the ravages of plague, which was then raging in a virulent form. The conditions prevailing here are fortunately very different, and there is no necessity for the inhabitants to make such sacrifices on that account.

8. Let me, however, analyse this statutory allowance of 15 per cent., which is supposed to benefit so much the property-owners. Whatever may be the case in the muffassil, in Calcutta this extra allowance will barely suffice to pay for the valuers' and lawyers' fees and other contingent expenses, not to mention the 3 per cent. stamp duty on conveyance, the brokerage, and the higher rate the dislodged house-owner will have to pay, in order to obtain a new dwelling-house in another place. This allowance will be more than swallowed up by the above expenses, and he will be a poorer man when he comes to live in a new dwelling-house. It thus appears that it confers no real advantage upon house-owners, but it goes at least some way to cover their loss.

9. It has been further urged that property-owners are not entitled to any indulgence, as they have not discharged properly their obligation which, though not legal, is a moral one, and they were bound to suffer for it. It is sufficient answer to say, on the authority of Mr. J. S. Nettlefold, who is an expert on the subject, that "it is the fashion nowadays with a certain class of social reformers to ascribe the present unsatisfactory state of affairs to the selfishness of land-owners and property-owners. I venture to suggest that the real cause lies much deeper. Our unhealthy, unlovely, cheerless and expensive towns are in my opinion due more to the faults of our system than to the shortcomings of any class or of individuals. I do not suggest that the individuals concerned are faultless: they are human, like the rest of us, and naturally look to the main chance; but those engaged in town-development and house-building are no worse than the rest of us". The plain fact is that the authorities understood so little and cared so little for town-planning that they allowed the town to grow in a haphazard fashion, each individual house-owner doing his best to develop his own property in the way best suited to his own interest, taste or fancy, and now the sins of past neglect have been visited on the devoted heads of owners who are not in any way to blame.

10. There cannot be any difference of principle in the acquisition under the Bill and the acquisition under the Land Acquisition Act. It would be anomalous if the statutory allowance of 15 per cent., which is as a rule allowed in the muffassil, where the property offers very little prospect of a gradual increase in value, were to be withheld in Calcutta, where it increases by leaps and bounds. Are the house-owners in Calcutta alone to be treated on a different footing? If this and cognate sections were passed in their present shape, the Trust would no doubt have a splendid opportunity of acquiring property at low prices, but it would neither be just nor equitable. It would force the conviction on the minds of the public that possession of property is a veritable misfortune. The fact also becomes apparent that the whole burden of the contribution towards the fulfilment of the Improvement Scheme is laid on property-holders alone, which, in common fairness, should be borne by others as well. Moreover, when the Land Acquisition Act was passed, it was made applicable to the whole of British India, including of course Calcutta, and sub-section (2) of section 23 provides for the payment of an additional compensation in consideration only of compulsory acquisition. This provision was made in 1894. No circumstances have since transpired and no proper reason has yet been shown why this principle of granting the statutory allowance should be departed from in 1911, and so long as no cogent reason is forthcoming the principle should be strictly adhered to.

Clause 14 (3) of the Schedule to the Bill—Clause (b) of the proposed section 23 (3) of the Land Acquisition Act.

11. This clause will act very harshly upon the owners of properties. It assumes as if the owner or his predecessors knew two years before that his land would be acquired by the Board, and, with a view to extract a higher price from the Trust, had made improvements which were not really necessary. . How is it possible for any owner to know that his land would be acquired two years hence so that he should not lay out any money with a view to improve his own property? There can be no question about the bonâ fides of the owners, and, if any mala fides has to be proved, the onus lies upon the Board. Mala fides should not be assumed, and in consequence the value of a property should not be assessed at a rate lower than its actual market value. It is not unlikely that the owner may not be able to prove a negative, as is required by the latter part of the clause. The provision contained in this clause is not at all fair.

Clause 14 (3) of the Schedule to the Bill—Clause (d) of the proposed section 23 (3) of the Land Acquisition Act.

12. In common fairness, it cannot be either just or proper that over crowding should be made a ground for reducing the rental and thereby the market value of a property, when the Calcutta Municipality not only tolerated such overcrowding but made it a ground for obtaining an increased tax.

Clause 16 of the Schedule to the Bill—Proposed section 24A (1) for the Land Acquisition Act.

13. I cannot understand why the return filed by the owner two years ago should be taken as the basis, and not the estimate of the Assessor of the Corporation on which the rates have been levied. For the purpose of ascertaining the valuation of land or a building, both the return of the owner and the estimate of the assessor are unreliable. The former tries to pay as little as possible, while the latter tries to exact as much as possible. The market value of Calcutta property cannot be safely assessed upon the return submitted by the owner, as it is increasing yearly, as evidenced by the enhanced rateable valuation of the city every year. It would, therefore, be just and proper if the valuation were made by inquiring into the prices at which properties have been sold in recent years in the neighbourhood of the property which is proposed to be acquired. This will disarm all opposition, and the valuation will be considered fair and reasonable. Moreover, this sub-section is open to the charge of one-sidedness, which should be removed. A different procedure is no doubt followed in the matter of assessing the value of land or buildings in England and Ireland, but it is not at all open to this charge, and every facility is given to the claimant to prove his own case. Fair market value is not at all dependent there upon the return filed by the owner in any municipality, and, so far as I can make out, it is not taken as evidence against him.

RESHEE CASE LAW.

The 27th February, 1911.

Clauses 4 and 7 of the Bill.

I ADHERE to my view that the Corporation should be represented by four members, and that the Ward Commissioners should elect not less than two; the number of Trustees being increased to 12 members.

2. I shall be prepared to support an amendment giving to the Muhammadan community the right to be represented on the Board by a member selected by themselves; one of the four places referred to in clause 4(e) being reserved for that purpose. They have an electorate ready made, in that which now elects a delegate for Calcutta in connection with the election for the Bengal Council.

Clause 14.

3. I think that the President of the Board should give his whole time to the duties of his office during his tenure of the appointment, and I am opposed to legislative authority sanctioning his deputation to other duties.

Clause 35.

4. Clause 35 is one of the most important in the Bill, and I think it gives cause for anxiety. It confers on the Board wider powers than are given even to local authorities in England; and it is unsatisfactory, in that there is no other remedy permitted than an improvement scheme.

5. Under this clause, if "any" buildings in "any" area appear to the Board to be insanitary, the Board can proceed to declare it to be an unhealthy area, with the consequence that land and buildings, in or near the area, can be acquired under the terms of compulsory purchase, for the rearrangement and construction of houses and streets. All the old houses, good and bad together, will come down, entailing heavy cost and delay. Under the English Acts an alternative is provided. Individual houses, when found to be unfit for human habitation, can be condemned, and the owners of these houses called upon to put them in order, failing which the offending houses can be demolished. The latter procedure will place the burden of repairing insanitary dwelling houses on owners who are responsible for their condition, and, among other effects, will minimize the displacement of population and will avoid the forcible emigration of working classes from localities where they are employed; while improvement schemes will put the cost on public funds, and cause possibly avoidable wastage and hardship. I do not wish to suggest that improvement schemes should not be adopted. I only urge that proper opportunity should be afforded to examine what, in truth, will be the most satisfactory method of dealing with the evils connected with such buildings, as is required under the clause. I submit that an alternative policy should not altogether be precluded from consideration, particularly as, under the clause as now presented, even if a single house, or perhaps two houses, in the opinion of the Board, are unfit for human habitation, an area of unlimited extent (possibly the whole of Calcutta) can be declared to be an unhealthy area, and the whole machinery of the law set in motion, and all the powers, to be conferred by the Act, exercised over such an area.

[Cl]auses 35 and 36.

6. I think that it would be advisable to insert a provision for a minimum number of houses, and no improvement scheme authorised on account of houses below that number, found to be unfit for habitation; and also, in order to bring this clause (and clause 36) into accord with the corresponding sections of the English Act, that "a certain" area be substituted for "any area," to permit of an interpretation that the area to be dealt with must be of only reasonable extent.

7. I submit that it is illogical to impose the restrictions on the public (with the principle of which I agree) embodied in clause 36(c) (which follows, in principle, the English Act, in this behalf) to put the Calcutta Corporation into motion; that is to say "in respect of any area comprised in a municipal ward—on a written complaint signed by 25 or more residents of such ward who are liable to pay either the owner's share or the occupier's share of the consolidated rate leviable under the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899"; while the Board may take action under clause 35 on any verbal report of a man in the street or a visitor to Calcutta.

8. Co-operation with the parties likely to be affected by improvement or other schemes, is the key-note of the action of the local authorities in England, and I think that at least the right of audience should be given to those who may have objection to offer to any scheme of the Board.

Clause 50A. 9. I think also that rehousing should be extended only to the poorer classes, who should be defined to be persons whose income, on an average, does not exceed Rs. 100 a month.

10. It is highly important that endeavour should be made to avoid overcrowding, and where, say, 15 or more dwellings occupied by persons belonging to such classes can be acquired or purchased, I think that the Board should make provision for such number of persons to be displaced as the Local Government may deem necessary.

11. In England, where Municipal Corporations develop schemes of local improvement and carry them into effect, the Local Government Board, a Department of Government responsible to the British Parliament through a Cabinet Minister, is the sanctioning authority, and makes a local inquiry before sanction is given to a scheme. I submit that such an inquiry is very much more necessary here, where the powers exercised by popularly elected Municipal bodies will be exercised by a Board that is so little responsible to the public and requires effective control by superior authority.

Clause 67A. 12. Where land is not required for the execution of a scheme, and may be retained under clause 67A, it seems to be wrong to constitute the Board judex in suâ causâ, to fix the sum to be paid for such land. I think that the Collector should value the land, and the valuation be subject to appeal. It will be observed that no principle for the valuation has been provided. I think that this omission should be made good.

13. I now must close my observations, as I have come to the limit of the time which I have been allowed. I have left untouched points which, I think, require attention, and I must be permitted to reserve to myself full liberty to move such amendments as I think may be required. But I cannot close my observations without a plea for the suspension of the contribution of the Calcutta Corporation for a period, to give time for its income to have increased sufficiently to enable the payment of the 2 per cent. charge to be imposed, without raising their rates. This concession is sought as a boon for the poorer classes. It is immaterial to the house-owner who holds houses as investments, as the rates for such property are paid, in the result, not by the landlord but by the tenant.

Clause 92.

J. G. APCAR.

March 1, 1911.

I HAD hoped to sign an unanimous report, but, that pleasure having been denied, I am for more reasons than one, forced, in the public interest, to record a minute of dissent, which I do with extreme regret.

2. I admit that a few concessions, some of them of an important character, have been made. But on the whole I regret to have to observe that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, has lost nothing in stiffness.

3. The Bill, though apparently shaped and moulded after the City of Bombay Improvement Act, has, I regret to observe, made large departures from some of the important principles of the latter, which, I fear, will prejudicially affect important interests.

Clause 4.

4. I cannot conceive why our Board should be less comprehensive and be narrower than that of Bombay. It is no doubt true that the change made by the Committee in the constitution of the Board is in some respects an improvement on the original Bill, for which the Committee deserve our best thanks; but I regret that the number of Trustees has not been raised to the extent we had desired, and important interests have yet been left unrepresented. It would be a matter of comment if the first fruit of an expanded Council, the majority of which are elected and non-official members, be a retrograde measure and the creation of a body, not sufficiently representative, and with a standing official majority. Under all these circumstances it is earnestly to be hoped that His Honour and the Council would be pleased to accept our recommendation of raising the number of Trustees to fourteen, but, candidly speaking, there is no charm in any particular figure, it is in one sense immaterial whether the number should be eleven or fourteen, so long as a preponderance of the non-official element is not allowed. In a matter of such importance it would be advantageous to all parties, it would promote smooth working if all interests were properly represented, if the Board were to utilise the local experience of the representatives of the people, who know their requirements, and if the Board were to act with their concurrence and co-operation, rather than act against their wishes.

Clause 50A.

5. I now proceed to discuss a question involving an important principle whether and how far the funds of the Board should be utilised in providing residential accommodation for any class other than the working and poorer classes of people displaced by the Improvement operations.

6. Clause 40 of the original Bill, that is, the Bill referred to the Select Committee, declared, in sub-clause (1) (f), that every improvement scheme should provide for "the construction of dwellings for persons displaced by the execution of the scheme, and of shops for the use of such persons." This Bill having been drafted on the lines of the Bombay Improvement Act, which (vide section 25) specifically provides that the construction of dwellings should be undertaken for the accommodotion of the working and poorer classes alone, we thought that the section in question should be amended so as to provide that such dwellings could only be made for the use and benefit of the poorer classes. Independently of the above, all shades of public opinion, both European and Indian, had unanimously recommended that the construction of dwellings should only be undertaken for persons of the poorer and working classes. In the opinions of the Corporation and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, there was absolutely no necessity to make similar provision in the case of the wealthier classes, who are quite able to take care of themselves.

7. However, as the clause was not free from ambiguity, with a view to remove all ambiguity and to clear doubts, when the question came up for discussion before the Select Committee I moved an amendment, that in clause 40, sub-clause (f) line one (of the original Bill) after "persons" should be added "of the poorer and working classes." The amendment, however otherwise reasonable and though once accepted, was, I regret to observe, at a much later stage of the discussion, thrown out under a misconceived apprehension that it would go to defeat the whole scope of the Improvement Act if the Board were tied or restricted to the construction of dwellings for the poorer classes alone, the majority of the Committee being of opinion that it should be one of the primary duties of the Board to construct buildings for all classes, including the wealthier classes.

8. Whatever might have been the case in the past, it is well known that within the last fifteen years hundreds upon hundreds of buildings, large and small, most of them being five to two stories high and suited to all tastes and conditions of life, have sprung up especially in the southern parts of Calcutta and the suburbs. All the bustee lands and even jungles have been cleared and instead of dirty hovels and mosquito-breeding jungles we find there beautiful buildings with charming lawns and parks. The general impression is that already too many buildings have sprung up, and that the supply is greater than the demand. In proof of my allegation I beg to point to the numerous buildings and flats that lie vacant from April to October every year.

9. However desirable may be the construction of sanitary dwellings for the poorer and working classes, it would be intolerable to authorise the Board, with its unlimited resources, with its capital of eight and one-quarter crores of rupees, to enter into speculative transactions and undertake the construction of large and middle-sized residential houses and shops for the wealthier classes and the highly placed. The propriety of allowing a public trust to compete with private enterprise is questionable, as it would go to depreciate private property and prejudicially affect private interests. It is well known that in England State interference with private enterprises is not tolerated. The attempts of the Government of India as well as Local Governments, in the past, to initiate industrial enterprises have, from time to time, elicited strong protests from the European commercial and trading communities as they were viewed in the light of State competition with private enterprise. If the Improvement Trust, the Calcutta Port Trust and the Calcutta Corporation were given a free hand to set up, at their sweet will, buildings, godowns and markets, all kinds of Calcutta property would considerably deteriorate, to the serious prejudice of their proprietors. It may be said, and it is said, that here is no sufficient justification for such an apprehension; but I say that there is sufficient scope for such apprehension, and that this is evident from the action of the Port Trust and the Calcutta Corporation and from the wording of clause 50A of the Bill.

10. Another very objectionable clause in the Bill is clause 41, which authorises the Board to acquire any quantity of land irrespective of their necessary requirements for the execution of any scheme. All amendments moved by some of us, to neutralise or minimise its effects, having been rejected, the result is that the Board will now have the power to acquire any quantity of extra land though it may lie beyond the zone of the improvement scheme. The amendments proposed were that there should be a limit to acquisition, and that no land beyond a certain depth on either side of a proposed street should be acquired. The clause in question reproduces the provisions of section 357, sub-section (2) of the Calcutta Municipal Act. It is no doubt in the public interest desirable, that the Board, like the Corporation, should have the power of acquiring extra land outside the main scheme, so that by disposing of the same they may recoup the costs of the main scheme; but surely it cannot be desirable, and I may say that it would be extremely detrimental to private interests, if the Board, with their unlimited resources, were to indulge in land speculations. I have seen in the Calcutta Municipality that often times proposals are submitted for laying out new streets, on the main ground that in the name of new streets by acquiring extra lands beyond the street alignment not only the streets could be made free of cost altogether, but such schemes would at the same time bring much profit to the municipality. I have known instances, and that very recently, in which, whether in making new streets in the fringe area or in formulating the Dhobikhana scheme on Hazra Road, instead of acquiring the actual quantity of land required, it was seriously proposed and unhesitatingly accepted by the Corporation that much larger areas should be acquired, so that the Corporation could make a large profit out of the bargain. While we condemn land-grabbing in private individuals, should the Legislature legalise land-grabbing in a corporate body? Should land acquisition be permitted, to the serious sacrifice of private interests? That there should be a limit to land speculation is the view of the Calcutta Trades' Association and several other bodies. By all means let the Board, according to the modern principle of betterment, take so much as may be necessary to recoup the costs of a particular scheme; but why should they, over and above that, try to make money out of it, as if land-grabbing were a legitimate business of a corporate body?

The Schedule to the Bill.

11. Now, as regards the land acquisition clauses. My first submission is, there is no emergency to justify the supercession of the old and familiar provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, and in their place to substitute unusual and extraordinary provisions and procedure. In case of urgency the Collector has ample power under the existing Land Acquisition Act to take immediate possession of the land required, there is therefore hardly any necessity for the enactment of new provisions and procedure. I cannot comprehend why it is that for the improvement of Calcutta and the suburbs, which will conduce to the benefit of the general body of ratepayers, comprising all classes and creeds, a particular class owning property in and about Calcutta, and the poor owners of residential houses, should be compelled to submit to heavy pecuniary sacrifices. The whole tenor of the procedure laid down here seems to favour the idea that land and dwellings are to be acquired for the benefit of the Trust on payment of as little as possible to the property holders.

Clauses 14 and 16 of the Schedule to the Bill.

12. It seems that in the proposed additions to sections 23 and 24 of the Land Acquisition Act all possible means and excuses have been utilized for reducing the market value of property to be acquired, and for paying a nominal amount for the same. Here also, as in other cases, all attempts for the elimination of the several additions made to sections 23 and 24 of the Land Acquisition Act, proved abortive, and all amendments proposed for minimising the injurious effects of these additions were one and all thrown out. Without expatiating on all the evils of the proposed additions, I cannot but refer to some of these additions, simply for showing what their collective effect would be on the determination of the market value of property to be acquired. Take, for instance, section 23, sub-section 3 (a), (b), (c), (d), and section 24A, sub-sections (1), (2), (3) and (4). If the propositions of law enunciated here are adopted, they would have the effect of reducing the amount of compensation to about one-third of what would otherwise be payable under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act.

Clause 14 (3) of the Schedule to the Bill.

13. With reference to the innovations proposed in sub-clause (d) section 23, I beg to observe that under section 445 of the Calcutta Municipal Act the Chairman of the Corporation has full power to abate overcrowding in dwelling-houses and other buildings and huts; but, not having exercised the power vested in him by law, but on the contrary having allowed the Assessor of the Corporation to assess all the alleged overcrowded buildings and huts at their full valuation due to such overcrowding, and having reaped the benefit of such overcrowding by realising much larger amounts in the shape of rates than what would have been ordinarily payable if there were no such overcrowding, it would not be fair to the owners of such buildings and huts to turn round and say that the market value of such buildings should be determined by the rents which would have been derivable from such buildings if they were occupied by such number of persons as could be accommodated in them without risk from overcrowding.

14. It is well known that buildings on Harrison Road and other parts of Burrabazar fetch very high rents, amounting to sums varying from Rs. 300 to Rs. 8,000 a month. Suppose it becomes necessary to acquire a building on Harrison Road, the annual rental of which is Rs. 12,000, under the Land Acquisition Act, the amount of compensation payable would be, say, about three lakhs of rupees, plus the statutory allowance of 15 per cent; but under section 23, sub-section (3) (d) in this Bill, it might be said that if the house had not been overcrowded, the average yearly rental would have been about Rs. 5,000 or Rs. 6,000 a year, and as such the amount of compensation should be, say, about half of what would otherwise be payable under the Land Acquisition Act.

15. I beg to submit that the additions proposed to be made to section 23 would have the effect of considerably reducing the amount of compensation which would otherwise be payable under the Land Acquisition Act. It would be inexpedient and unfair to treat the Calcutta people differently from the people in other parts of India.

Clause 16 of the Schedule to the Bill.

16. Section 24A (1).—True it is that owners of buildings and lands are very often called upon by the Calcutta Municipality to submit returns of rents and annual values of such buildings and lands, but this is a meaningless formality, for those returns are never relied upon or acted upon, and the Assessor fixes the assessment in every case according to his own valuation which is always much higher than that shown in the return. Now, the Corporation having rejected the returns, and having realised the rates according to the valuation made by the Assessor, it would not be fair for the Board or the Tribunal to fix the price on a return which was pronounced unreliable and which was therefore rejected and never acted upon.

17. Next I beg to cite a concrete case to illustrate that the prevailing market value of a property can never be ascertained by reference to its rents, and that rent is no criterion for ascertaining the intrinsic market value of bustees and garden lands in Calcutta and the suburbs. There are lands in Cossipur, the monthly rental of which is six to eight annas per cottah, that is Rs. 6 a year. Now, according to the provisions laid down in section 557 of the Calcutta Municipal Act and the provisions made in section 24A(1) in clause 16 of the Schedule to this Bill, the Land Acquisition Collector would be quite justified in awarding Rs. 150 as compensation for a cottah of land in the aforesaid area, but by local enquiries it can easily be ascertained that the prevailing market value of a cottah of land there is about Rs. 500 (five hundred). The above concrete case, in my judgment, furnishes quite sufficient evidence of the startling difference between the market value as ascertained by reference to rental basis and that offered by a willing purchaser to a willing seller. Here the difference is in the ratio of 4 to 1.

Clause 61 C, 63 and 67 of the Bill.

18. After all that has been said by the Select Committee, I have not yet been convinced of the justification, the necessity for the creation of a special Tribunal for the adjudication of civil rights. All the amendments moved regarding the special Tribunal and its constitution having been brushed aside on the plea that it was working well in Bombay, it only now remains for me to point out and to draw the attention of the Council to the fact that the constitution of the proposed Tribunal is extremely faulty and one-sided. I do not know where is the necessity for associating two assessors with the President of the Tribunal, unless it be to give it the appearance of a trial by Jury and to make the decision of the Tribunal final and unappealable. If we are to have assessors, which, in my opinion, is quite unnecessary, then they must not be dependent on the favour of Government for their appointment. In my opinion one of the assessors should be appointed by the Corporation and the other by the British Indian Association or an Association of Landholders. Otherwise the public can have no faith or confidence in such a Tribunal. It is rightly apprehended that the decision of the Tribunal will, in a majority of cases, be shaped, moulded and coloured by the views of the President, whose decision will be the decision of the majority of the Tribunal.

19. Under all these circumstances, instead of giving us the show or appearance of trial with the aid of assessors, I earnestly appeal to His Honour and to the Council to provide in the Bill for the appointment of two Land Acquisition Judges for the speedy trial of the very numerous Land Acquisition cases that would naturally crop up in executing the Improvement scheme, and give the parties aggrieved the usual right of appeal to the High Court. This is indeed a novel proposal, that an appeal should depend on the certificate of the Judge whose decision is questioned, condemned, and is to be appealed against.

20. The provision made here is an indirect, but none the less an effective, method of shutting out appeals. I beg to submit that the provision made here is against the fundamental principle of the British Law. It is against the known traditions of the British Courts of Law to deprive an aggrieved party of his right of appeal to higher tribunals and thereby deny justice to him. I beg to point out whether it would be just and fair to shut out appeals in cases valued at some lakhs of rupees. From personal experience I can say that invariably the awards of the Collector are confirmed, on reference, by Land Acquisition Judges, and it is only by appeals to the Hon'ble High Court that occasionally something is added to the Collector's awards.

21. At the present moment a big Land Acquisition case valued at one and a half crores of rupees is pending before the Alipore Land Acquisition Judge. Whatever be his decision, can anyone reasonably expect that, in case it does not come up to the expectation of the claimants, they should rest content with the decision of the Land Acquisition Judge and should have no right of appealing to the High Court and the Privy Council, respectively.

Clause 14(2a) of the Schedule to the Bill.

22. In conclusion, I beg to say a few words about the proposed discontinuance of the statutory allowance of 15 per cent. which has hitherto been paid to owners of property whenever any property has been acquired for public purposes. The reason for the payment of the extra allowance of 15 per cent. is that it is something in the nature of solatium for the compulsory acquisition of a man's property. This extra allowance is often more than swallowed up by the heavy costs which the proprietor has to incur in getting the amount of compensation payable decided. In the case of a residential house, the owner has to incur additional costs in different forms for purchasing a new house. It would be a great wrong, and the distinction would be invidious, if the owners of property in the Calcutta Municipality are refused payment of the 15 per cent. allowance when land is acquired for the Improvement Trust, while it will, as heretofore, be continued to be paid when land is to be acquired by the Calcutta Corporation or the Port Trust. The analogy of Bombay cannot hold good, for it was in a great emergency, in a serious crisis, when hundreds and hundreds of people were daily dropping down dead from plague and the whole town was panic-stricken, and there was a general exodus of all classes of people from the city, and when trade and commerce were nearly paralysed, that the citizens of Bombay cheerfully agreed to submit to any sacrifice, rather than live in dirt and filth and die of plague.

23. In spite of what has been stated in the report of the Select Committee, I beg to say that sub-section (2) of section 23 has been virtually repealed, and not merely modified. The Indian Members of the Select Committee refused to receive it as any concession whatsoever when it was proposed that the 15 per cent. allowance under the above-mentioned sub-section should be paid when land is acquired outside of the limit of the Calcutta Municipality while nothing would be paid when land is acquired in the Calcutta Municipality. The real nature of this so-called concession would be apparent from the fact that large acquisitions of valuable landed properties, the price of which may range from Rs. 4,000 (four thousand) to Rs. 80,000 (eighty thousand) a cottah, would be made in the Calcutta Municipality, whereas small acquisitions of waste lands and paddy fields for the construction of model dwellings for the poorer classes may be made outside of the Calcutta Municipality and the price of such lands may vary from Rs. 50 (fifty) upwards per cottah.

24. We are quite prepared to accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. J. C. Shorrock, which seems to us a reasonable solution of this knotty question.

25. In conclusion, I earnestly pray that the Bill may not be passed in a form which will go to displease a class of people, I mean owners of property in Calcutta, who have always been loyal and firmly attached to, and have always stood by, the Government.

SITA NATH RAY.

The 2nd March, 1911.

THE last meeting of the Select Committee, which held altogether 34 sittings, was on the 28th of February, and those of the members who desired to annex to the report of the Select Committee any minute of dissent were asked to submit their notes of dissent on the morning of the 2nd March, thus giving the dissentient members practically a day's time, which, owing to an important meeting of the Supreme Legislative Council, I have not been able to utilise. I have, however, obtained an additional day, through the courtesy of the Secretary, Legislative Department. I have made this preliminary observation in order to explain the discursive and scrappy nature of my notes, and not by way of complaint. There are many points of difference between the opinion of the majority of the Select Committee and myself, but for want of time I shall indicate only the more important among them.

Preamble to Bill. 2. In the preamble I should confine the acquisition of land for re-housing of persons displaced by the execution of the improvement schemes only to the poorer classes, whom I should define as having an income of not more than Rs. 1,200 a year.

Clauses 4 and 7 of the Bill. 3. The Board consist of 11 persons, of whom 2 are Government servants and 4 are Government nominees. Then again, of the three Corporation members, one is to be elected by the 25 Commissioners, composed of 15 Government nominees and 10 representatives of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Calcutta Trades Association and the Port Commissioners of Calcutta, so that, in the election of this member of the Board, the Municipal Commissioners nominated by Government will have a predominant voice. We shall thus have, in a body of 11, seven members, two of whom are Government servants and the other five directly or indirectly nominees of Government.

4. The Calcutta rate-paying public will have one member to be elected by the 25 Ward Commissioners, and they will have some voice in the election of the third member by the Corporation, where their proportion is only one-half. The rate-paying public of Calcutta consists of owners of landed property, among whom must be included the large class of persons in the Indian portions of the city who live in their own houses, and of occupiers. The Municipal Commissioners are returned by both classes of rate-payers; and it comes to this, that the owners of landed property in Calcutta or the residential owners, whose interests will be very largely affected by the operations of the Board, will have practically no representation on the Board. I think some adequate provision should be made for the representation of this large and important interest, as otherwise the land-owning public of Calcutta will not have any

Clause 67A. confidence in a Board, where they can have hardly any representative, especially as the Board will have very largely to decide questions as to the amount which house-owners will have to pay who desire to retain land which is not required for the purposes of any improvement scheme and for which they will have to pay a lump sum to be fixed by the Board for a prospective increase

Clauses 4 and 7. in value. I should therefore suggest that there should be at least two representatives on the Board of the landed interest in Calcutta, for whom a constituency based on the qualification of paying the owner's share of the consolidated rate may easily be framed: the addition of these 2 members will raise the number of the Board to 13, of whom 6 members will hold their seats under Government directly and 1 will be a Government nominee indirectly. The Bombay Improvement Board consist of 14 members, and 13 members for Calcutta, or even 14, would not by any means be a large or unworkable number.

5. If this addition of two members is not accepted, the Government, which originally under the Bill as introduced wanted to reserve to itself two nominees, may very well give up the two additional nominations conferred on it by the Select Committee, who thought that as two additions were made to the Board as representatives of other interests, Government should also have two additional members given to it. If the Government is unwilling to do so, I would strongly urge that, out of the four persons to be directly nominated by Government, two should be, by statutory provision, representatives of the landholding classes of Calcutta. I have not said anything particularly of the "occupiers" of Calcutta, to borrow a well-known expression from the Municipal Act, as they will at least have 3 representatives out of 11, namely, the President, the Chairman of the Corporation, and the member for the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

Clause 7 (b). 6. I strongly object to one of the three members given to the Corporation being elected by the 25 Commissioners appointed under sub-section (2) of section 8 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, who are known as the nominated Commissioners. These nominated Commissioners consist of 15 Government nominees, 4 representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, 4 of the Calcutta Trades Association and 2 Port Commissioners. Of the 15 Government nominees, I believe 12 at the present time are Government officials, and it comes to this that out of three members which the Government proposes to give to the Corporation, it practically takes away one. There seems to be no reason why the Government nominees on the Calcutta Municipal Board should have the choice of one representative to the Improvement Trust, seeing that the Government has got in it six members already. European commerce and trade have got a direct representative on the Improvement Trust given to them, and it is not clear why their representatives on the Corporation should have the indirect choice of another member in conjunction with the Government nominees. I think the more equitable method by which the three members of the Corporation should be returned is as follows:—two by the elected Commissioners who represent both the householding and "occupying" public of Calcutta, and one by the Corporation in whose election the Government nominees and other nominated Commissioners will take part. Ben. Act III of 1899.

Clause 21. 7. Fees payable to Trustees.—Members of Committees who are engaged as experts for a specific remuneration should not be paid any fee for attendance at meetings.

The aggregate amount of fees payable to any trustees for all meetings held during a month should be fixed at Rs. 200, as in the Bombay Act, and not left for future determination. Bom. Act IV of 1898.

Clause 26. 8. Papers should be sent to the Corporation also.

Clause 30. 9. The President's sole power of appointment should be limited to offices not carrying a salary of over Rs. 200 a month.

Chapter III. 10. Chapter III deals with three classes of schemes—

1st, improvements of insanitary areas, which are called general improvement schemes,

2nd, street-improvement schemes,

3rd, re-housing schemes.

The clauses in this Chapter, however, have been so arranged that they create a confusion in the mind as to the proper understanding of the meaning thereof; for example, the question of dealing with an area arises under the general improvement scheme (vide clause 35). Street-improvement schemes deal primarily with opening up of new streets and providing building sites. Clause 40, however, makes provisions for acquiring lands in the improvement area, laying out or relaying of lands in such area, etc. It is by no means clear in the Bill as to which class of improvement schemes this clause applies to. Much useful purpose does not seem to be gained by the compulsory and optional provisions of clauses 40 and 41.

Clause 35. 11. The scheme of the Calcutta Bill varies considerably from the principle of the City of Bombay Improvement Act. There the Board can take action in improving an insanitary area only upon an official representation made by the Municipal authorities: here power is given to the Board to act irrespective of any official representation. This procedure, if followed, is likely to lead to friction between the Corporation and the Board, and may also result in the over-lapping of schemes. The Board, moreover, in the absence of local representatives and a health department, will not possess the requisite knowledge to deal on its own initiative with insanitary areas in Calcutta. Bom. Act IV of 1898.

Clause 38. 12. This clause lays down under what circumstances street schemes may be undertaken. One of these is (a) "providing building-sites." Does this mean that the Board are to open streets, to acquire building-sites, and, if so, building-sites for what class of people? Is it in contemplation to acquire large plots of land from private owners and then resell them as building-sites to all classes of persons? If so, it is objectionable in principle, for the Board then will, for no purposes of State, acquire lands from one class of owners and transfer them to another class, who even under the current doctrines of Socialism are not entitled to this benefit. Sites should only be acquired for public purposes, or the purpose of housing poorer and working classes displaced by the operation of the scheme. The Bombay Act does not contain any such general provision as is contained in clause 38 (a), and, so far as I have been able to ascertain, none of the English Acts has the provision.

Clause 50A. 13. The re-housing scheme, as contained in the Bill, is unsound. The Bombay Act only provides for the accommodation of the poorer and working classes, including the whole or part of such classes who may be displaced in the execution of the scheme. Why should the re-housing scheme of Calcutta extend beyond classes who are recognised as the only classes entitled to relief at the expense of the general tax-payer? Moreover, I cannot imagine what machinery the Board will have for the construction of buildings and their maintenance, as contemplated in clause 56A, sub-clause (4), and what will be the nature of the rights of parties who will undertake to build at their own expense, their powers of sale or letting, and the final adjustment of their rights when the Board cease to be.

Clause 46. 14. I now go back to clause 46, which provides for the consideration of objections by parties who will be affected by the execution of the schemes and who are invited, under clauses 42, 43 and 44, to send in their objections. There is no procedure provided as to how these objections are to be dealt with: they are merely to be considered by the Board, who are not called upon to give the objectors even a hearing. Under the Calcutta Municipal Act (sections 401 and 407) parties objecting are given a hearing. In England, where we have a class of persons much better able to safeguard their interests, and where having regard to the non-official nature of the administration and the homogeneousness of the persons affected and the bodies charged with carrying out the improvements, a greatly elaborate system for the protection of private interests may not seem necessary, we have got scrupulous provisions made for the safeguarding of the interests of private owners. In the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict., Cap. 70), where provision is made for improvement of unhealthy areas, the Local Government Board appoints a special officer to hold a local inquiry and to ascertain local objections. Upon his report, the Local Government Board makes a provisional order, which is published and served upon all persons affected. This provisional order is followed by an Act of Parliament, and then the scheme is put into operation. In the amending Act, 1903, [1] power is taken to give effect to the provisional order of the Local Government Board if no land is being taken compulsorily or if there is no objection to such compulsory taking. And in the latest Statute 9 Edw. VII, Cap. 44, First Schedule, rule (6), it is provided as follows:—"The Local Government Board shall forthwith cause a public inquiry to be held in the locality in which the land is proposed to be acquired, and the local authority and all persons interested in the land, and such other persons as the person holding the inquiry in his discretion thinks fit to allow, shall be permitted to appear and be heard at the inquiry."[2] This statute further provides expressly that regulations should be framed "for securing co-operation on the part of the local authority with the owners and other persons interested in the land at every stage of the proceedings by means of conferences."[3] If these elaborate precautions have been found necessary in England, they are much more necessary here. If the institution of an independent local inquiry like what they have in England is not possible, some opportunity ought to be given to the objectors in any particular area to appear either collectively or singly before the Board, and place their objections personally before them. The objectors would otherwise have to rely upon a summary made in the office, where the strongest points may be overlooked.

Clause 56 J. 15. Clause 56 J does not provide as to how and by whom the reference is to be made.

Clauses 61B to 67. 16. Clause 61B and the clauses bearing upon the constitution and powers of the Tribunal—I do not object to the Tribunal if a right of appeal is given. There seems to be some apprehension that this right of appeal may be abused. I do not share in this apprehension. Upon a mere question of value, when there will be two experts to assist in the valuation, there will be hardly any appeal, except when there has been a clear misapplication of some well-established principle of valuation. Take, for instance, the Original Side of the High Court, from where there is an unrestricted right of appeal. Taking the last three years, in 1908 there were 1,117 cases instituted and 66 appeals; in 1909 number of cases 1,185, appeals 62; in 1910 number of cases 1,185 and appeals 76. People do not rush to an expensive Appellate Court from a mere desire to appeal, and I hardly think there will be any appreciable number of appeals from awards upon valuations made by a tribunal of experts: at the same time, the provision of an appeal keeps the subordinate tribunal in order and ensures the regularity of proceedings.

ause 67A. 17. This is one of the most important provisions of the Bill: it enables an owner under certain circumstances to save his property which is not wanted for the carrying out of an improvement scheme by compounding with the Board by a lump-sum payment or submitting to a charge on his property and paying interest. The object of the clause seems to be this: the Board do not want the land for the improvement, but they will hold out a threat for its acquisition in order to get what money it can from the owner; the owner will be at the mercy of the Board, because the Bill makes no provision for payment of any compensation except the value of the land, which, again, under the amendments proposed as regards the mode of valuation in the Land Acquisition Act, namely, that such valuation shall be based upon the return made by the owner to the Municipality for purposes of assessment, will be in many instances much below the market value. We have, moreover, to bear in mind the fact that the improvement schemes under the Bill will affect many ancestral residential houses which our people are very anxious to retain under any circumstances. All these combined will place the owner seeking to retain the land in a position of great disadvantage.

hedule, clauses) and 16 [sec. 14A(1)].

18. The only justification for such an extraordinary procedure is that there is a similar provision in the present Calcutta Municipal Act and that people in Calcutta have become accustomed to it. That this provision in the Calcutta Municipal Act has been very seldom put into operation is evident from the fact that very few people in Calcutta know about it, and moreover the only safeguard that at present exists against any tyrannical proceedings on the part of the Corporation, apart from its being a popular body, viz, that, if the Corporation and the owner do not agree as to the valuation, the land has to be acquired under the present Land Acquisition Act, which provides for compensation and for payment of the actual market value, is going to be removed from the present Act. Ben. Act III of 1888.

19. The English system follows a different practice altogether. The owner of the land not required for carrying out an improvement scheme, but benefiting by the improvements in his area pays a rate of 3 per cent. on half the increased value due to the improvement. The increased value is assessed, subject to a right of appeal by the owner. The principles embodied in the English practice, if not the practice itself, should be adopted, namely, that the value to be fixed for lands exempted should be half of the prospective increase in value, and, in case of difference between the Board and the owner, it should be referred to the Tribunal for determination. All questions of damage and compensation arising from the operations of the Board are referable to the Tribunal, and I fail to see why, when the Board decide to allow a person to retain his land upon payment to the Board of what is presumed to be the equivalent of the prospective increase, the only expert body which the Bill provides should not be consulted.

e 71. 20. Clause 71 provides for a 2 per cent. duty in addition to the stamp duty on all sales, gifts, etc., of property within the limits of the Calcutta Municipality. Property below Rs. 5,000 in value should be exempted, and all sales effected in pursuance of agreements entered into before the passing of the Act should be exempted.

e 92. 21. The municipal contribution of 2 per cent. per annum on the rateable valuation of Calcutta should not be payable at once. The Board will not be in a position to carry out any improvement scheme on a large scale until after some time has elapsed; the operations of the first few years, when houses will be pulled down in large numbers and land acquired in considerable quantity, will have the effect of reducing the rateable value of Calcutta. It is not fair to tax the present generation for a benefit which will only accrue to future generations. The Corporation, in their note, have very conclusively shown that their contribution will not be required for at least six years if not ten, and that, even if the municipal contribution is postponed, there will be a considerable surplus left after the operations of the Board have ceased.

Clause 100 (1a). 22. I should prefer debentures being signed by the President and two other trustees, as in the case of Calcutta Municipal debentures and the Bombay City Improvement debentures.

Schedule A, clause 14 (2a). 23. Clause 14 (2a) in the Schedule disallows the compensation of 15 per cent. now payable under the Land Acquisition Act, in respect of land to be acquired under the Improvement Act in Calcutta only. In England the usual practice in assessing the value of land is to add a certain percentage, usually 10 per cent., for what is termed compulsory purchase. The innovation in the Bill is sought to be justified by English precedents in the recent Statutes for Town Improvements, and by the principle adopted in the Bombay Act. The English Statutes deal principally, if not exclusively, with tenanted houses, when the owner who gets the price may easily find a fresh investment for his money.

24. Even in England this provision does not find place in all the Improvement Acts, and certainly not in the earlier Acts. The first application of this principle was to lands in unhealthy areas, and it is still more or less confined to such areas. Nearly 20 years have elapsed between the earlier and later Acts before the urban public of England have accepted this innovation, which, as I have said, hardly affects the case, having regard to the mode of valuation adopted in England. In Calcutta the first Improvement Act begins with the latest innovation adopted in England after 20 years. Then, again, the circumstances under which the Bombay Act of 1898 was passed do not happily exist at the present time in Calcutta. Lord Sandhurst, in introducing the Bill, observed that Bombay was face to face with a great and grave emergency—the prevalence of plague in Bombay, which all measures taken by Government seemed unable to check, and the financial position very gloomy: in fact, as is well known, the Bombay Improvement Trust has been seriously handicapped for want of funds, and the Supreme Government have only just now made a gift to it of Rs. 50 lakhs. Bom. Act IV of 1898.

25. The financial scheme of the Calcutta Improvement Bill is much sounder, and it has been shown by experts that there will be a considerable surplus left after the operations have closed: the emergency which existed in Bombay, and which would justify any sacrifice, happily does not exist in Calcutta. The Chawt system, which aggravated the congestion of Bombay, is absent from Calcutta. The great mills and factories are all outside Calcutta, and do not conduce to the congestion of Calcutta to anything like the same extent to which they do in Bombay. And in Calcutta this rule will affect not owners of properties enjoying their rents, but many poor and middle class residential owners inhabiting ancestral homes. Apart from all this, the owner whose property will be acquired will be put to heavy expenses in obtaining professional and expert advice as to valuation and producing his evidence before the Collector. He will have to pay a stamp duty of 3 per cent. to buy a new house for himself, and he gets no compensation for removal, except mere expenses. All these factors are totally ignored. Moreover, whatever justification there may be for lands which are actually required for an improvement, or when unhealthy sites or buildings are acquired, there hardly seems any justification for the application of this principle when land is being acquired to provide building sites for others or threatened to be acquired to reduce the cost of executing a scheme. In this connection I may refer to the finding of the Calcutta Building Commission :—" We have carefully considered the question of statutory allowance, and are not inclined to recommend any alteration of the present law," and this was said at a time when Calcutta was threatened with plague, which people feared would be as severe as in Bombay, if not worse.

Schedule A, clause 16 [section 24A (1)]. 26. I strongly deprecate the introduction of this principle in the valuation of a holding in Calcutta, namely, that the return of annual value or rent, made by the owner for purposes of municipal assessment, shall be taken as the basis of valuation unless the Tribunal otherwise directs. None of the English Statutes have got this provision: the Bombay Act has, but the system of municipal rating in Bombay and Calcutta is not the same. In Bombay all Bom. Act IV of 1898.

houses are assessed on the basis of actual or presumptive rental ; in Calcutta, as is well known, in cases of residential houses a most fanciful system of valuation is in vogue, namely, one has to take the selling value of land, add to it the present cost of construction of the building, deduct therefrom the depreciation, and take 5 per cent. on the remainder as the annual value of the property. Apart from the injustice of taking a valuation which is submitted for purposes of assessment as the price in case of a sale, it is not possible to compare the Bombay system with the Calcutta system of assessment. Then we have no knowledge as to the relative numbers of residential houses in Calcutta and Bombay which are likely to be affected by the improvement schemes. The provision can only be meant either as a punishment for a low return or as indicative of a desire to acquire land without paying a fair price. The latter supposition is untenable: then the only object would seem to be to punish people. They are punishable under the Municipal Act, and are also punishable Ben. Act under the Indian Penal Code: to introduce a new punishment for a different III of 1899. purpose seems to be manifestly unjust. And what is more, the amendment provides that the basis of valuation shall be the return made by the party, though the Corporation may not have accepted it and may have assessed the property at a much higher figure.

27. These are some of the observations I intended to make on the provisions of the Bill. Having regard to the shortness of time, I have been unable to elaborate them or go into details, and I have been obliged to omit the consideration of various other provisions of the Bill which are not so prominent as those I have noticed.

(3) In the case last hereinbefore provided for, no fresh declaration or other proceedings under sections 6 to 10, both inclusive, shall be necessary; but the Collector shall without delay furnish a copy of the order of the Local Government to the person interested, and shall thereafter proceed to make his award under section 11.

Acquisition of land at cost of a local authority or Company.

50. (1) Where the provisions of this Act are put in force for the purpose of acquiring land at the cost of any fund controlled or managed by a local authority or of any Company, the charges of and incidental to such acquisition shall be defrayed from or by such fund or Company.

55. (1) The Local Government shall have power to make rules, consistent with this Act, for the guidance of officers in all matters connected with its enforcement, and may from time to time alter and add to the rules so made.

(2) The power to make, alter and add to rules under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the condition of the rules being made, altered or added to after previous publication.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

PROMOTION OF DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENTS AN ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS OF POLICE.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the leading article headed "the Police and Educated Indians" in the Bengalee of the 7th February, 1911?

(b) Is it a fact that all the Deputy Superintendents of Police who were appointed direct have been superseded by non-graduate Deputies who were promoted from Inspectorships, though the latter were promoted to the Provincial Service after the appointment of the former?

(c) Is such accelerated promotion and supersession usual in other branches of the public service?

(d) If so, to what extent, and what is the reason for such differentiation?

(e) Did Indian Assistant Superintendents who were promoted from the rank of Inspector and Sub-Inspector under the old scheme in any case supersede European Assistant Superintendents (Provincial Service) appointed direct?

(f) If not, is there any reason for such differentiation of treatment in the same service?

(g) Is it a fact that almost all the Deputies promoted from Inspectorships have officiated, at some time or other, as Superintendents, and that not more than one Deputy appointed direct has had a similar chance?

(h) If so, what is the cause?

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER, in the absence of the Hon'ble MR. STEVENSON-MOORE, replied :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) The answer is in the affirmative, though it may be added that one of the promoted Inspectors who have passed over the heads of officers appointed direct is a graduate.

(c) & (d) The Hon'ble Member is referred to rule 8 of the 'Rules for Admission to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police' which prescribes that 'promotion will be awarded strictly by selection according to merit.' In the exercise of that principle, it has necessarily been found that the merits of the promoted officers, who have rendered long and good service in the department, have outweighed those of the young officers appointed direct. It must be remembered that the service of Deputy Superintendent of Police is a service of less than five years' standing, and that the officers appointed direct have not yet acquired sufficient experience to prove their merit; in course of time it may confidently be expected that they will win their due share of promotion, and as they are at the beginning of their service and have been superseded by officers who are approaching the time for retirement, the advancement of those who show themselves worthy of it will not be seriously impeded. On the other hand, if these young officers were to fill up all the places in the higher grades, officers promoted from the rank of Inspector would be completely blocked and could never rise above the lowest grade of Deputy Superintendent. In the other Provincial Services, such as the Provincial Judicial and Executive Civil Services, all officers are of the same class and the rules assign greater weight to seniority in making promotions; their conditions consequently are not comparable with those of the Police Service.

(e) If by the term 'European Assistant Superintendents of the Provincial Service', the Hon'ble Member refers to European Assistant Superintendents attached to the Bengal Police before the Police became an Imperial Service, the answer is in the affirmative.

(f) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer to Question (e) above.

(g) The answer to the first question is in the affirmative; that to the second in the negative; six Deputy Superintendents of Police who received direct appointments have officiated as Superintendents.

(h) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer to Question (g) above."

AMENDMENT OF THE BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID ZAHIR-UD-DIN, in the absence of the Hon'ble KHAN BAHADUR MAULVI SARFARAZ HUSAIN KHAN, asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, is likely to be amended during the present Legislative Session?

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER replied:—

"There is no intention of proceeding with the amendment of the Bengal Municipal Act during the current Legislative Session."

FLOODS AND WATERWAYS.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked:—

(a) Has the Government received the report of Mr. Perrott, District Magistrate of Darbhanga, dated the 12th December, 1910, on the result of the joint inquiry held at Lahiriasarai on the 17th December, 1910, in pursuance of the Government of Bengal's letter No. 774T.—R., dated the 25th October, 1910, and the Railway Board's letter No. 3162R.C., dated the 17th October, 1910?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what the scope of the said joint inquiry was?

(c) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the recommendations of Mr. Perrott contained in paragraph 10, clauses (1), (2), (3), (5) and (7) of the said Report?

(d) Does the Government intend to take any action on the said recommendations, and, if so, what?

(e) Does the Government intend to move the Railway Board or the Railway Company concerned to provide sufficient waterways between Lahiriasarai and Kishunpore and in the line (Tirhut Section) generally?

The Hon'ble MR. FINNIMORE, in the absence of the Hon'ble MR. BUTLER, replied:—

(a) "The reply is in the affirmative. The date of Mr. Perrott's report should be 21st December, 1910, and not 12th December, as stated.

(b) The inquiry was into the alleged causes of the excessive floods of 1910, which included the obstructions to the Chota Bagmatti river in the town of Darbhanga and the obstructions of the drainage between Darbhanga and Samastipur by landowners' embankments, and was made with a view to the results being reported and remedies suggested.

(c) Government have seen these recommendations.

(d) A further report which the Commissioner has promised is awaited before deciding what action, if any, should be taken by Government.

(e) The action to be taken by Government must wait till the whole question of the disposal of the flood spill from the Bagmatti has been settled."

FLOODS IN DARBHANGA.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it has received the report of the Commissioner of Tirhut about the last floods in the district of Darbhanga?

(b) If so, does the Government intend to make a thorough inquiry into the causes of these floods and to take the necessary steps to save the district from these floods?

The Hon'ble MR. FINNIMORE, in the absence of the Hon'ble MR BUTLER, replied :—

(a) "The reply is in the affirmative.

(b) The Commissioner of Tirhut, after obtaining the opinions of the District Boards of Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga, intends to refer the whole question to a Divisional Conference. The opinion of the Conference is awaited."

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT BILL, 1911.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas presented a preliminary report by the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the Improvement and Expansion of Calcutta.

He said :—

"Sir,—I beg to present the preliminary report submitted by the Select Committee on the Calcutta Improvement Bill, and in doing so, I may briefly explain why we have adopted the somewhat unusual course of submitting a preliminary report.

"The Members of this Council will remember that one of the features of the Bill was the provision for the imposition of a tax on jute, an excise on raw jute consumed at the Mills, and an export duty on raw jute exported from the port of Calcutta. Most of the important Associations consulted criticised these proposals, and after consideration of these criticisms, the Government of Bengal made a reference to the Government of India on the subject. No answer has yet been received to that reference, and, pending the disposal of that matter, it was impossible for the Select Committee to proceed with the consideration of those clauses [1] in Chapter V which dealt with the jute tax.

"The Select Committee has held 34 sittings and has dealt with considerable thoroughness with the rest of the Bill, and has introduced several important changes. Whatever decision may be come to with reference to the tax on jute, the recommendations of the Select Committee with regard to all the remaining clauses of the Bill will be unchanged, and it was therefore thought that as the results of the labours of the Select Committee were lying ready to hand, it was better that they should be submitted to the Council and the public be given an opportunity of studying and criticising them.

"Under these circumstances, I beg to present the preliminary report of the Select Committee."

The Council was then adjourned to Monday, the 13th March, 1911, at 10-30 A.M.

(2) The application must be made in the prescribed form, and must be left at the Patent Office in the prescribed manner.

(3) The application must contain a declaration to the effect that the applicant is in possession of an invention, whereof he, or in the case of a joint application one at least of the applicants, claims to be the true and first inventor or the legal representative or assign of such inventor and for which he desires to obtain a patent, and must be accompanied by a specification and by the prescribed fee.

(4) Where the true and first inventor is not a party to the application, the application must contain a statement of his name, and such particulars for his identification as may be prescribed, and the applicant must show that he is the legal representative or assign of such inventor.

4. (1) The specification must particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention and the manner in which the same is to be performed.

Specification.

(2) Where the Controller deems it desirable, he may require that suitable drawings shall be supplied with the specification, or at any time before the acceptance of the application, and such drawings shall be deemed to form part of the specification.

(3) The specification must commence with the title, and must end with a distinct statement of the invention claimed.

(4) If in any particular case the Controller considers that an application should be further supplemented by a model or sample of anything illustrating the invention or alleged to constitute an invention, such model or sample as he may require shall be furnished before the acceptance of the application, but such model or sample shall not be deemed to form part of the specification.

5. (1) The Controller shall examine every application, and if he considers that—

Proceedings upon application.

(b) the application, specification and drawings have not been prepared in the prescribed manner or relate to more than one invention, or

(c) the title does not sufficiently indicate the subject-matter of the invention, or

(d) the statement of claim does not sufficiently define the invention, or

(e) the invention as described and claimed is primâ facie not a new manufacture or improvement, he may refuse to accept the application or require that the application, specification or drawings be amended before he proceeds with the application; and in the latter case the application shall, if the Controller so directs, bear date as from the time when the requirement is complied with.

(2) Where the Controller refuses to accept an application or requires an amendment, the applicant may appeal from his decision to the Governor General in Council.

(3) The investigations required by this section shall not be held in any way to guarantee the validity of any patent, and no liability shall be incurred by the Governor General in Council or any officer by reason of, or in connection with, any such investigation, or any proceeding consequent thereon.

(4) Unless an application is accepted within twelve months from the date of the application, the application shall (except where an appeal has been lodged) become void:

Provided that where an application is made for an extension of time for the acceptance of an application, the Controller shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, grant an extension of time to the extent applied for but not exceeding three months.

7. Where an application for a patent in respect of an invention has been accepted, any use or publication of the invention during the period between the date of application and the date of sealing such patent, shall not prejudice the patent to be granted for the invention:

Use of invention on acceptance of application.

8. After acceptance of an application and before sealing a patent the Controller shall, if he thinks it advisable or is directed by the Governor General in Council so to do, refer the specification for inquiry and report to any person whom he thinks fit.

Inquiry before sealing patent.

9. (1) Any person may, on payment of the prescribed fee, at any time within three months from the date of the advertisement of the acceptance of an application, give notice at the Patent Office of opposition to the grant of the patent on any of the following grounds, namely:—

Opposition to grant of patent.

(a) that the applicant obtained the invention from him, or from a person of whom he is the legal representative or assign; or

(b) that the invention has been claimed in any specification filed in British India which is or will be of prior date to the patent, the grant of which is opposed; or

(c) that the nature of the invention or the manner in which it is to be performed is not sufficiently or fairly described and ascertained in the specification; or

(d) that the invention has been publicly used in any part of British India or has been made publicly known in any part of British India;

but on no other ground.

(2) Where such notice is given, the Controller shall give notice of the opposition to the applicant, and shall, on the expiration of those three months, after hearing the applicant and the opponent, if desirous of being heard, decide on the case.

(3) The decision of the Controller shall be subject to appeal to the Governor General in Council.

10. (1) If there is no opposition, or, in case of opposition, if the determination is in favour of the grant of a patent, a patent shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, be granted, subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council thinks expedient, to the applicant,

Grant and sealing of patent.

or in the case of a joint application to the applicants jointly, and the Controller shall cause the patent to be sealed with the seal of the Patent Office.

(2) A patent shall be sealed as soon as may be, and not after the expiration of eighteen months from the date of application:

Provided that,—

(a) where the Controller has allowed an extension of the time within which an application may be accepted, a further extension of four months after the said eighteen months shall be allowed for the sealing of the patent;

(b) where the sealing is delayed by an appeal to the Governor General in Council, or by a reference under section 8, or by opposition to the grant of the patent, the patent may be sealed at such time as the Controller may direct;

(c) where the patent is granted to the legal representative of an applicant who has died before the expiration of the time which would otherwise be allowed for sealing the patent, the patent may be sealed at any time within twelve months after the date of his death;

(d) where in consequence of the neglect or failure of the applicant to pay any fee a patent cannot be sealed within the period allowed by this section, that period may, on payment of the prescribed fee and on compliance with the prescribed conditions, be extended to such an extent as may be prescribed.

Date of patent.

11. Except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, a patent shall be dated and sealed as of the date of the application:

Provided that no proceedings shall be taken in respect of an infringement committed before the publication of the specification.

Effect, extent and form of patent.

12. (1) A patent sealed with the seal of the Patent Office shall, subject to the other provisions of this Act, confer on the patentee the exclusive privilege of making, selling and using the invention throughout British India and of authorizing others so to do.

(2) Every patent may be in the prescribed form and shall be granted for one invention only, but the specification may contain more than one claim; and it shall not be competent for any person in a suit or other proceeding to take any objection to a patent on the ground that it has been granted for more than one invention.

Fraudulent applications for patents.

13. (1) A patent granted to the true and first inventor or his legal representative or assign shall not be invalidated by an application in fraud of him, or by protection obtained thereon or by any use or publication of the invention subsequent to that fraudulent application during the period of protection.

(2) Where a patent has been revoked on the ground of fraud or on any other ground, the Controller may, on the application of the true inventor or his legal representative or assign made in accordance with the provisions of this Act, grant to him a patent in lieu of and bearing the same date as the patent so revoked for any invention comprised in the revoked patent to which he was entitled:

Provided that no suit shall be brought for any infringement of the patent so granted committed before the actual date when such patent was granted.

Term of Patent.

Term of patent.

14. (1) The term limited in every patent for the duration thereof shall, save as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be fourteen years from its date.

(2) A patent shall, notwithstanding anything therein or in this Act, cease if the patentee fails to pay the prescribed fees within the prescribed times:

Provided that the Controller, upon the application of the patentee, shall, on receipt of such additional fee as may be prescribed, enlarge the time to such an extent as may be applied for but not exceeding three months.

(3) If any proceeding is taken in respect of an infringement of the patent committed after a failure to pay any fee within the prescribed time, and before any enlargement thereof, the Court before which the proceeding is taken may, if it thinks fit, refuse to award any damages in respect of such infringement.

Extension of term of patent.

15. (1) A patentee may, after advertising in the prescribed manner his intention to do so, present a petition to the Governor General in Council praying that his patent may be extended for a further term; but such petition must be left at the Patent Office at least six months before the time limited for the expiration of the patent and must be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) Any person may give notice to the Controller of objection to the extension.

(3) Where a petition is presented under sub-section (1), the Governor General in Council may, as he thinks fit, dispose of the petition himself or refer it to a High Court for decision.

(4) If the petition be referred to a High Court, then on the hearing of such petition under this section the patentee, and any person who has given notice under sub-section (2) of objection, shall be made parties to the proceeding, and the Controller shall be entitled to appear and be heard.

(5) The Court to which the petition is referred shall, in considering its decision, have regard to the nature and merits of the invention in relation to the public, to the profits made by the patentee as such, and to all the circumstances of the case.

(6) If it appears to the Governor General in Council, or to the High Court when the petition has been referred to it, that the patentee has been inadequately remunerated by his patent, the Governor General in Council or the High Court, as the case may be, may by order extend the term of the patent for a further term not exceeding seven, or, in exceptional cases, fourteen years, or may order the grant of a new patent for such term as may be specified in the order and subject to the payment of such fees as may be prescribed and containing any restriction, conditions and provisions which the Governor General in Council or the High Court, as the case may be, may think fit:

Provided that any patent so extended or granted shall, notwithstanding anything therein, or in this Act, cease if the inventor fails to pay before the expiration of each year the prescribed fee.

Restoration of lapsed patent.

16. (1) Where any patent has ceased owing to the failure of the patentee to pay any prescribed fee within the prescribed time, the patentee may apply to the Controller in the prescribed manner for an order for the restoration of the patent.

(2) Every such application shall contain a statement of the circumstances which have led to the omission of the payment of the prescribed fee.

(3) If it appears from such statement that the omission was unintentional or unavoidable and that no undue delay has occurred in the making of the application, the Controller shall advertise the application in the prescribed manner, and within such time as may be prescribed any person may give notice of opposition at the Patent Office.

(4) Where such notice is given the Controller shall notify the applicant thereof.

(5) After the expiration of the prescribed period the Controller shall hear the case and, subject to an appeal to the Governor General in Council, issue an order either restoring the patent subject to any conditions deemed to be advisable or dismissing the application:

Provided that in every order under this section restoring a patent such provisions as may be prescribed shall be inserted for the protection of persons who may have availed themselves of the subject-matter of the patent after the patent had ceased.

Amendment of application or specification.

Amendment of application or specification by Controller.

17. (1) An applicant or a patentee may at any time, by request in writing left at the Patent Office and accompanied by the prescribed fee, seek leave to amend his application or specification, including drawings forming part thereof, by way of disclaimer, correction or explanation, stating the nature of, and the reasons for, the proposed amendment.

(2) If the application for a patent has not been accepted, the Controller shall determine whether and subject to what conditions (if any) the amendment shall be allowed.

(3) In any other case the request and the nature of the proposed amendment shall be advertised in the prescribed manner, and at any time within three months from its first advertisement any person may give notice at the Patent Office of opposition to the amendment.

(4) Where such a notice is given the Controller shall give notice of the opposition to the person making the request, and shall hear and decide the case.

(5) Where no notice of opposition is given, or the person so giving notice of opposition does not appear, the Controller shall determine whether and subject to what conditions, if any, the amendment ought to be allowed.

(6) The decision of the Controller in either case shall be subject to an appeal to the Governor General in Council.

(7) No amendment shall be allowed that would make the application or specification, as amended, claim an invention substantially larger than, or substantially different from, the invention claimed by the application or specification as it stood before amendment.

(8) Leave to amend shall be conclusive as to the right of the party to make the amendment allowed, except in case of fraud; and the amendment shall be advertised in the prescribed manner, and shall in all Courts and for all purposes be deemed to form part of the application or specification.

(9) This section shall not apply when and so long as any suit for infringement or proceeding before a Court for the revocation of the patent is pending.

Amendment of specification by the Court.

18. In any suit for infringement of a patent or proceeding before a Court for the revocation of a patent the Court may by order allow the patentee to amend his specification by way of disclaimer in such manner, and subject to such terms as to costs, advertisement or otherwise, as the Court may think fit:

Provided that no amendment shall be so allowed that would make the specification, as amended, claim an invention substantially larger than, or substantially different from, the invention claimed by the specification as it stood before the amendment, and where an application for such an order is made to the Court notice of the application shall be given to the Controller, and the Controller shall have the right to appear and be heard.

Restriction on recovery of damages.

19. Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 24th February 1911.

No. 5.—The Governor General has been pleased, under rule 23 of the Rules for the conduct of the Legislative Business of the Council of the Governor General, to order the publication in the Gazette of India in English of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, and the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information.

BILL NO. 1 OF 1911.

A Bill to amend the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910.

II of 1910. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Indian Paper Currency (Amendment) Act, 1911.

Amendment of section 22, Act II, 1910. 2. In section 22 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910, for the words "twenty millions", each time they occur, the words "forty millions" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE portion of the Currency Reserve which may be invested was fixed at 12 crores of rupees in 1905. Since then the increase in the circulation of our Currency Notes has been so large and apparently so permanent that a further cautious addition to the invested part of the Reserve seems safe and advisable. The Bill takes power to raise the figure of 12 crores to 14 crores and permits of the additional investment being made in sterling securities if desired.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st March 1911 :—

A Bill further to amend the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.

VI of 1886. WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration (Amendment) Act, 1911.

VI of 1886. Amendment of section 22 of Act VI of 1886.

2. In section 22 of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886, the following amendments shall be made, namely :—

(1) To sub-section (1) of the said section the following proviso shall be added, namely :—

"Provided that it shall not be necessary for the person giving notice to attend before the Registrar or to sign the entry in the register if he has given such notice in writing and has furnished to the satisfaction of the Registrar such evidence of his identity as may be required by any rules made by the Local Government in this behalf."

(2) In sub-section (2) of the said section, after the word "signed" the words "or the conditions specified in the proviso to sub-section (1) have been complied with" shall be inserted.

Amendment of sections 26 and 28.

3. In section 26 and in section 28 of the said Act, for the words "Governor General in Council" the words "Local Government" shall be substituted.

Substitution of new section 36.

4. For section 36 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely :—

Rules.

"36. (1) The Local Government may make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) fix the fees payable under this Act;

(b) prescribe the forms required for the purposes of this Act;

(c) prescribe the time within which, and the mode in which, persons authorized under this Act to give notice of a birth or death to a Registrar of Births and Deaths must give the notice;

(d) prescribe the evidence of identity to be furnished to a Registrar of Births and Deaths by persons giving notice of a birth or death in cases where personal attendance before such Registrar is dispensed with;

(e) prescribe the registers to be kept and the form and manner in which Registrars of Births and Deaths are to register births and deaths under this Act, and the intervals at which they are to send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages true copies of the entries of births and deaths in the registers kept by them;

(f) prescribe the conditions and circumstances on and in which Registrars of Births and Deaths may correct entries of births and deaths in registers kept by them;

(g) prescribe the particulars which the descriptive list or lists to be prepared by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter V are to contain, and the manner in which they are to refer to the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, to which they relate; and

(h) prescribe the custody in which those registers or records are to be kept.

(3) Every power to make rules conferred by this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(4) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the local official Gazette, and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Repeal of section 37.

5. Section 37 of the said Act is hereby repealed.

Continuation of rules heretofore made by Governor General in Council.

6. All rules heretofore made under the said Act by the Governor General in Council shall, after the commencement of this Act, be deemed to have been made by the Local Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IT has been represented to the Government of India that the provisions of the Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886 (VI of 1886), are not as freely resorted to as would otherwise be the case owing to the fact that the personal attendance before the Registrar of a person giving notice of a birth or death is required by section 22 of that Act. It is proposed therefore to amend section 22 so as to allow notice of a birth or death to be given in writing, subject to precautions to secure the identification of the person giving the notice.

2. The Government of India consider that such precautions should be left to rules to be framed by Local Governments, and opportunity has also been taken in making this amendment to delegate to Local Governments the general rule-making power under the Act.

X of 1904.

Repeal.

43. The Co-operative Credit Societies Act, 1904, is hereby repealed. X of 1904.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

WHEN the Bill, which subsequently became the Act of 1904, was published, the following remarks were made in the Statement of Objects and Reasons :—" Legislation is called for not only in order to lay down the fundamental conditions which must be observed, but also with a view to giving such societies a corporate existence without resort to the elaborate provisions of the Companies Act; but it is thought that legislation should be confined within the narrowest possible limits. The Bill has, therefore, been drawn so as to deal only with those points which the Government consider to be essential, and its provisions have been expressed in simple and general terms, a wide rule-making power being reserved to Local Governments, so that what is felt to be of the nature of an experiment may be tried in each province or part of a province on such lines as seem to afford most promise of success" : and these principles were followed in the Act as passed.

2. The adequacy of the existing Act was examined at a conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies in 1909, and it was held that the Act still remained in many ways unduly restricted, and that it also required certain alterations in detail which had been suggested by experts since 1904. The Conference of Registrars drew up proposals for the amendment of the Act, and after consulting Local Governments on these proposals the Government of India have prepared the Bill now published. The chief changes contemplated by the Government of India are four in number :—

(i) The Act of 1904 applies to Societies for the purpose of co-operative credit only and not to Co-operative Societies of other kinds, such as those established for production or distribution. It has in practice been found that the establishment of Credit Societies has led to the founding of other classes of Co-operative Societies also, and it is advisable that the privileges extended by the Act to Co-operative Credit Societies should be extended to these other Societies. It is proposed therefore that the Act as now revised should be made applicable to all classes of Co-operative Societies—vide clause 1 (1) and clause 4 of the Bill.

(ii) In the Act of 1904 Societies were classified according as they were " Urban " or " Rural " and the principle was laid down that as a general rule rural societies should be with unlimited liability. This basis for distinction was adopted, mainly because it represented a classification which had already been recommended and put in force in the initiation of Co-operative Credit Societies in certain parts of India, but it was at the time criticised as unsuitable by experts, and it has in practice been found artificial and inconvenient. The real distinction is between Societies with limited and those with unlimited liability, and it is proposed in the new Bill to maintain this distinction only while retaining the principle that agricultural Credit Societies must as a general rule be with unlimited liability—see clause 4 of the Bill.

(iii) The Act of 1904 did not contemplate that Societies with unlimited liability should distribute profits. It is still felt that such Societies do not represent the best form of co-operation for agricultural communities, but this form of Society has, in practice, been for some time in existence in several provinces, and Societies of this character, though not of the orthodox type, are recognized to be capable of useful work. Although therefore it is not intended to give them undue encouragement, it is proposed to legalize their existence and to permit an unlimited Society, with the sanction of the Local Government, to distribute profits—see clause 28 of the Bill.

(iv) A cardinal principle which is observed in the organization of Co-operative Societies in Europe is the grouping of such Societies into Unions and their financing by means of Central Banks. This stage of co-operation had not been fully realised or provided for in the Act of 1904, but such grouping of Societies has already been found feasible in most provinces, and it is now considered desirable to legalize the formation of Co-operative Credit Societies of which the Members shall be other Co-operative Credit Societies—vide clauses 5 (1), 6 and 10 (3) of the Bill.

3. In addition to carrying out the main alterations above described the present Bill contains the several changes of detail and it has been found advisable to recast the Bill in order to improve the drafting and to incorporate the changes now contemplated. The chief alterations, other than those above referred to, are the following :—

Clause 3.—It is proposed to make provision for investing in persons, other than Registrars, the power of a Registrar.

Clause 5.—It is proposed to maintain the existing restrictions as to residence or class as obligatory before registration in the case of Credit Societies and to render the existence of ten Members obligatory before registration in the case of all kinds of Co-operative Societies other than those all the members of which are themselves registered Societies. It is proposed further to give the Registrar the power of decision as to the residence qualification and to place persons of the same occupation on the same footing as persons of the same tribe or class.

Clause 8.—The provision giving conclusive authority to the Registrar's certificate of registration is new.

Clause 14.—It is proposed by this clause to give the Registrar power to conduct an audit by deputy. The previous provision that no charge should be made for audit has been omitted.

Clause 16.—It is proposed to extend from one year to 18 months the term of lien on agricultural products and to permit a lien on articles manufactured from raw materials supplied by, or with the help of, a registered Society.

Clauses 22 and 23 are based on provisions in the English Industrial and Provident Societies Act. Clause 22 makes the register of members primâ facie evidence of the date of commencement and cessation of membership, and clause 23 provides for proof of entries in the books of a registered Society.

Clause 26.—This clause so far as it allows registered Societies to invest in good securities and validates investments made prior to the amendment of the law now suggested is new.

Clause 27.—It is now proposed to make it clear that a registered Society is not precluded from receiving deposits from non-members.

Clause 29.—The provision allowing contributions to charities is new.

Clause 30.—The existing provisions have been altered so as to allow a Registrar to conduct an enquiry by deputy.

Clause 31.—The provision allowing a creditor to require an inspection is new. It is based on a similar provision in the Companies Act.

Clause 35.—The provision allowing the Registrar to cancel registration when the number of members becomes less than ten is new.

Clause 37.—Sub-clauses 2 (m) and (t) and 3 are new. The two former allow the Local Government to prescribe returns and the procedure on liquidation, and the latter permits of the delegation of the powers of the Local Government.

Clauses 39 and 40.—The existing section 29 has been recast with a view to making clear the distinction in the power of exemption of the Local Government before and after registration.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st march 1911 :—

No. 6 OF 1911.

A Bill to amend the Special Marriage Act, 1872.

III of 1872. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Special Marriage Act, 1872; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Special Marriage (Amendment) Act, 1911.

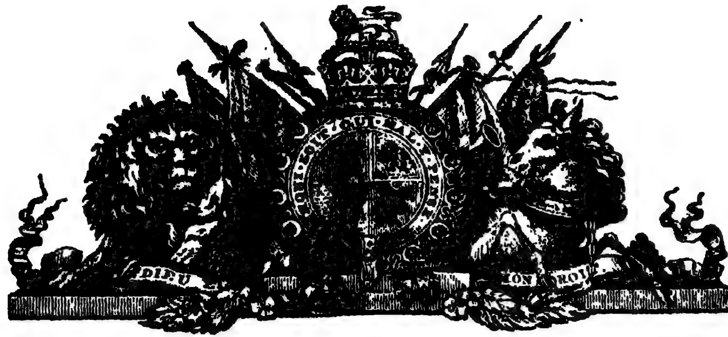
Amendment of preamble, Act III of 1872. 2. That the words commencing with "who do not profess," and ending with "Jaina religion" occurring in the preamble to the Special Marriage Act, 1872, be omitted, and in lieu thereof the following words be substituted, namely, "intend marriage under the provisions of this Act."

Amendment of section 2, Act III of 1872. 3. That in section 2 of the said Act the words commencing with "neither of whom," and ending with "Jaina religion" be omitted, and the following words be substituted, namely, "who intend marriage under the provisions of this Act."

Amendment of Second Schedule, Act III of 1872. 4. That in the Declarations to be made by the bridegroom and the bride in the Second Schedule to the said Act, the words in clause 2 be omitted, and in lieu thereof the following words and figures be substituted, namely :— "I intend marriage under the provisions of the Special Marriage Act, 1872, as amended by the Special Marriage (Amendment) Act, 1911."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Special Marriage Act of 1872 applies to persons who do not profess any of the recognised religions of India and a declaration has to be made by the parties contracting marriage that they do not profess any such religion. This declaration, which is a negation of faith in all the religious systems of India, has been felt to be an unnecessary condition by the community for whose benefit the Act was specially intended.



The provisions of the Act, moreover, cannot be availed of by those members of the Hindu community who desire to introduce intermarriage between different sub-sections of the same caste or between members of the same caste inhabiting different provinces of India. Such intermarriages have not taken place for a very considerable time. Marriage customs observed by the same caste of Hindus in different parts of India vary sometimes considerably, and intermarriages are difficult as people naturally feel great hesitation in contracting marriages the validity of which may be open to question. Under the law as it stands at present, intermarriage between members of different castes of the Hindus is of extremely doubtful validity, if not an absolute nullity. The necessity for a simple law of marriage wholly optional and which may be supplemented by the religious rites observed by the contracting parties is greatly felt by those who do not desire to break away from Hinduism and at the same time seek to adapt their life to the growing needs of the times.

SECOND FORECAST OF THE SPRING OILSEED CROPS OF BENGAL, 1910-11.

(On an average of the five years ending 1908-09 the area under linseed and rape and mustard in the territory to which this forecast relates represents about 22·8 and 12·5 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Explanatory.—This forecast deals with all kinds of oil-seed crops excepting sesamum, for which there is a separate forecast.

Area sown.—The total area sown with the different kinds of oilseeds excepting til is estimated at 2,072,100 acres against 2,014,700 acres, the revised figures for last year.

Character of the season and condition of the crops.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in Bihar and also in the Presidency and Chota Nagpur Divisions. The rainfall in September and October was general and was above the normal in most districts. Sowings, though commenced at the normal time, were somewhat retarded in parts of the Presidency Division and in Cuttack, Angul, Burdwan and Hooghly owing to the heavy rainfall in October. In November there was no rain except in some districts of Chota Nagpur and in Bihar where the fall was above the average. The rainfall in January proved beneficial to the late crops. The season has been favourable and prospects of the crops are reported to be good.

According to the estimates of the District Officers the outturn of the different kinds of oilseeds (excepting til) for the whole Province works out to 89 per cent. of the normal as against 84 per cent. estimated last year; but given favourable weather during the remainder of the season, I estimate that the crop will be not less than a normal one.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

SECOND FORECAST OF THE WHEAT CROP OF BENGAL, 1910-11.

[On an average of the five years ending 1908-09 the area under wheat in the territory to which this forecast relates represents about 4·6 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage, (a) in British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1908-09, averaged (a) 39 per cent. and (b) 8 per cent. respectively.]

Character of the season.—Wheat is grown chiefly in Bihar but also in Nadia, Murshidabad, Hazaribagh and Palamau. Good rain fell in September and October and there was sufficient moisture for the sowings which were commenced at the usual time. In November there was no rain except in Bihar and in parts of Chota Nagpur where the fall was above the average. This was followed by a dry December. In January the rainfall was general and proved beneficial to the crop especially in Bihar. The season has been favourable and prospects of the crop are reported to be good especially in Bihar and Chota Nagpur.

Area sown.—The total area sown with the crop this year is estimated at 1,402,800 acres against 1,427,900 acres last year.

Outturn.—The estimated percentage outturn in the fifteen districts where the crop is most important is as follows:—Patna, Saran, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Murshidabad and Palamau 100 per cent.; Sonthal Parganas 97 per cent.; Gaya 96 per cent.; Monghyr 94 per cent.; Hazaribagh 92 per cent.; Champaran 91 per cent.; Shahabad and Muzaffarpur 90 per cent.; Nadia 53 per cent.

The outturn for the whole Province according to the District Officers' estimates works out to 95 per cent. of the normal, but from the reports it would appear that in Calcutta the crop will be not less than 105 per cent.

For rule 23, Appendix A, of the Municipal Account Rules, substitute the following :—

Remission of Bills.

23. When the Bill Register for any quarter has been closed, every bill entered therein must be satisfied either by collection or remission, or partly by each method. The manner of dealing with the remissions shall be as follows :—

Firstly.—If the demand has been entirely remitted, the order of remission and receipts shall be placed before the Vice-Chairman or the officer in charge of the Assessment Department, who shall see that the receipts are stamped "Cancelled" in large type, and shall initial them in token of having compared them with the orders. The receipts (with the bills attached if they have not been served) shall then be given to the Accountant together with the remission orders. The Accountant shall compare the receipts with the orders, and after giving a certificate of agreement on the order, shall retain the bills in safe custody for scrutiny and destruction by the Local Auditor. When receipts have been filed in civil suits, the entries in the Remission statement shall be supported by certificates from the Municipal Pleader conducting the suits, that they have been so filed, the number and date of each suit being quoted in the certificate.

Secondly.—If the demand has been remitted in part only, the necessary corrections shall be made in the receipt, and also in the bill, if it has not been issued, and shall be initialled by the Vice-Chairman, who shall also initial the remission order. If the two rates are drawn in one bill and one of them is remitted in full, the remission shall be attested by the Vice-Chairman as if it were a partial remission of one rate.

Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council, Reports of Select Committees presented to that Council, and Bills published under Rule 34.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following further report of the Select Committee on the Calcutta Improvement Bill, 1911, together with the Bill as further amended by the Committee and a reprint of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (I of 1894), with proposed modifications embodied in loco, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT BILL, 1911.

FURTHER REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

WE, the undersigned, members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the improvement and expansion of Calcutta was referred, have the honour to submit this further report, supplementary to the report submitted to the Council on the 4th March, 1911.

2. The Government of Bengal has consented to a modification in the method by which an income is to be derived from the taxation of jute. In the Bill as introduced in Council it was proposed to impose an excise duty on all raw jute consumed in any mill in Bengal and an export duty on all raw jute exported by sea from the port of Calcutta to any port outside British India or to Aden. It has been found that the collection of this excise duty would be unpopular and, in some respects, troublesome. The Committee are informed that by the substitution of an export duty on all jute, both raw and manufactured, exported by sea from the port of Calcutta, in place of the taxation originally proposed, the resulting loss of revenue would be not more than 5 per cent. of the yield originally estimated. In the opinion of the Committee this small loss is more than compensated by the convenience resulting from the collection of an indirect instead of a direct tax, and they have accordingly modified Parts III and IV of Chapter V of the Bill as introduced in Council.

Clause 73.

3. Clause 73, as now modified, imposes a customs duty on all jute, raw and manufactured, exported by sea from the port of Calcutta, whatever be its destination.

Clause 73A.

4. Clause 73A has been inserted to bar the operation of section 5 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, which would otherwise render it imperative to levy the duty on jute passing into foreign territory, such as Chandernagore.

Clauses 74 to 91.

5. Clauses 74 to 86, which dealt with the excise on jute, have been omitted, and there have been consequential omissions in clauses 87 and 88. Clauses 89 to 91 have also been omitted.

Clause 150.

6. In clause 150 any special reference to offences against Chapter V is no longer necessary, and the clause now renders all offences under the Act and rules triable by a Presidency Magistrate.

Clause 152.

7. Clause 152 has been modified so as to restrict its application to offences punishable only with fine.

Clause 166.

8. In clause 166 the reference to clause 77 has been necessarily omitted, in consequence of the excision of that clause.

9. While preparing this supplementary report, the Committee have taken the opportunity of submitting the Bill to a further careful examination, and they have in consequence adopted some further amendments, mainly verbal, of an unimportant character. Some of these are mentioned below.

Clause 1 (2).

10. In clause 1 (2) it is proposed to leave unfettered the discretion of the Government in fixing the date from which the Act shall come into force.

Clause 107.

11. In clause 107 the words "or part" after "such loan" have been omitted, as being superfluous.

Clause 110.

12. In clause 110 (b) a necessary reference to clause 105A has been introduced.

Clauses 27, 64, 98, 145 and 190C.

13. Purely verbal amendments have been made in clauses 27, 64, 98, 145 and 190C.

14. The Bill, as further amended by us, is annexed hereto. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed into law.

(a1) if it be shown that, before such declaration was published, the owner of the land had taken active steps and incurred expenditure to secure a more profitable disposition of the same, further compensation, based on his actual loss, may be paid to him;

(b) IF THE MARKET-VALUE HAS BEEN INCREASED BY MEANS OF ANY IMPROVEMENT MADE BY THE OWNER OR HIS PREDECESSOR IN INTEREST WITHIN TWO YEARS BEFORE THE AFORESAID DECLARATION WAS PUBLISHED, SUCH INCREASE SHALL BE DISREGARDED, UNLESS IT BE PROVED THAT THE IMPROVEMENT WAS MADE bonâ fide AND NOT IN CONTEMPLATION OF PROCEEDINGS FOR THE ACQUISITION OF THE LAND BEING TAKEN UNDER THIS ACT;

(c) IF THE MARKET-VALUE IS SPECIALLY HIGH IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE LAND BEING PUT TO A USE WHICH IS UNLAWFUL OR CONTRARY TO PUBLIC POLICY, THAT USE SHALL BE DISREGARDED, AND THE MARKET-VALUE SHALL BE DEEMED TO BE THE MARKET-VALUE OF THE LAND IF PUT TO ORDINARY USES; and

fifthly, any increase to the value of the land acquired likely to accrue from the use to which it will be put when acquired;

Bill, clause 61C (a).

Collector may be directed to pay interest on excess compensation.

28. If the sum which, in the opinion of the [Court] TRIBUNAL, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation, the award of the [Court] TRIBUNAL may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date on which he took possession of the land to the date of payment of such excess [into Court] to THE TRIBUNAL.
